In an article which appeared recently in the Enterprise it was indicated that persons having Girl Scout uniforms to sell or donate should call Mrs. Richard Howard.

It was brought to our attention that the story as submitted to us was incorrect, and that it was Mrs. Ralph Howard who was taking uniforms for Girl Scouts. Her telephone number is GR. 4-2157. Anyone having uniforms are asked to contact her.

Along The Creek In Woodcreek

ELEANOR M. PREUSS MA. 6-6361

While attending the national meeting of the American College of Surgeons in San Francisco, and Mom Kinney spent another California last week. Dr. Conrad Lam of Westbrook watched him perform an operation, apparently in the field of thoracic surgery, via a color and sound movie taken last spring. He also gave a paper on heart surgery and presented and explained another.

Pursuing a deep sea fishing expedition, Conrad had to rush home to appear on a panel on Open Heart Surgery for the Mississippi Valley Trout Society, at the Hotel Statler last Friday.

While in Utah last year, Bob and Ruth Weaver met Lon and Marge Garsky of Detroit. Finding themselves in accordance, the foursome decided to repeat their good times this year, and Leo persuaded his co-worker, Will Hand, who also happens to be a Woodcreek, to join them.

The trip was to the 4M Ranch in Utah, owned by Ross Russell, a pioneer and discoverer of many ruins and cliff dwellings. About twenty-five or more years ago, Russell started taking young men from the East on auto caravan and pack trips through Utah, being the first white man since the Indian Aborigines to set foot on the "hidden inaccessible country."

Their first overnight pack trip was to the top of the LaSalle mountains, a seven-hour trip on a horseback. Wearing light clothing since temperatures were in the eighties, the party almost froze overnight as it rained, sleeted and snowed.

Their next trip was via Jeep, 2000 feet down into the Valley of Standing Rocks. At this point, they were still 1000 feet from the bottom and camped upon the white rim. Will Hand, two adventurous women from the east and Ross, who had discovered the only way down the year before between two huge rocks, made the descent and brought back some money.

Their last pack trip was via Jeep to Monument Valley, where John Wayne made "The Searchers." The Navajo Indian reservation is located there.

Will and Betty took a 20-mile trip on horseback through rugged country to Mill Creek Canyon on their last day, passing a place where many dinosaur bones had been found.

Watson Kinney's mother, Mrs. J. M. Kinney, who is 74 years young, made her first trip south when she flew from New York to St. Louis, where she met Watson, and flew on to Monroe, Louisiana. Alleyne had already been visiting in Monroe for three weeks, but the big celebration took place the weekend of September 23, when her folks, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Rout, celebrated their 48th wedding anniversary and Mrs. Rout's birthday.

Alleyne's brother and sister-in-law, the Robert Routs, came from Dallas, Texas, and the turkey dinner plus the trimmings and festive atmosphere made it seem like Christmas in September.

Watson arrived home in time to fly to Cleveland to attend the meeting of the American Society of Metal Show.

Bond PTA Hosts School Board, Administrators

The Bond P.T.A. meeting, held Monday evening, October 15, was well attended.

Besides a majority of the 174 membership, also present were Bayard Tupper, Douglas Hammill, and Leland Clifford of the Farmington School Board, and O. E. Dunkel, James Read, Gerald Harrison, and Miss Minnie Zielke of the school administrative staff.

Several of the members gave short talks on various subjects, such as organization of the School Board and administrative staff, curriculum in the schools, enrollment and building program, finance and taxes, all of which proved very enlightening to the P.T.A. members.

After the talks, a panel type discussion was held. The P.T.A. members wrote down questions which they wanted answered regarding the schools and the Farmington School system. Mr. Redner, Bond P.T.A. program chairman, acted as moderator.

During the business meeting, which was held prior to the program, the Bond P.T.A. approved a proposed theatre party to be held on Tuesday, October 30, at 1 p.m. in the Civic Theater in Farmington as a fund-raising project for this year.

There will be a Christmas and a P.T.A. board-approved picture. All children and parents from the Farmington area are invited to attend.

Tickets will be available at the home of Mrs. E. H. Hodgeson, 20505 W. Nine Mile Road, and several door prizes.

The party will be in a Halloween theme and all children who wish to wear their Halloween costumes are invited to do so. There is no limit on ages or number of persons in a family wishing to attend. P.T.A. officials pointed out.

"LO AND BEHOLD"

The Waterloo Hunt Club in Jackson, October 6, Nancy was also among the 40 riders to enjoy a fox hunt the next day, along with club guests from Grosse Pointe and Bloomfield, and as far away as Tennessee and Missouri.

Parents Verne and Grace were enthusiastic spectators, enjoying a buffet dinner at the club Saturday evening, breakfast the next morning and joining the H.H.O. as a group of "car" spectators who followed the hunt and watched from as many vantage points as possible.

Saturday, October 6, the Paul Phillips of Millbrook entertained Anne's niece and husband, Sally and John Blake and their 3-year-old daughter, and the Robert Belthorns and their five children from Birmingham, with a picnic supper. Sunday guests who savored Anne's home-made pizza and apple pie included the headmaster of the Detroit Country Day School, Mr. Alden Shaw and wife, and other friends and associates.

Greg McDonald, son of the Earl McDonalds on Millbrook, arrived home from school, October 11, to surprise party in honor of his sixth birthday. Mother Mary served dinner to 24 of his friends, including Grandma Herward.

Mary's god-daughter, Patty, only two years old, spent a week with Claudia while her parents were hunting.

Helen Weightman, Grace Fishburn and Ethel Nelson, joined members of the Friendly Circle of the Franklin Community Church October 9, in folding cancer pads, eating lunch and visiting with patients in the Pontiac Convalescent Home.

Nancy Fisher was one of the three women comprising the Waterloo hunt team, all on charcoal grey horses and wearing black jackets at the Hunter Trials at Hunt House.
