Along The Creek In Woodcreek
ELEANOR M. PREUSS MA. 6-6361

Your new correspondent for this column, beginning next week, will be Emogene Davis, who spent several years as a correspondent from the Four Corners Press. James and Emogene Davis moved to Woodcreek from Ten Mile and Southfield last January. They have two children, Tamar, 16, and Jimmy, 15.

Dr. and Mrs. Carl C. Birkelo of Westbrook are moving. They will be "at home" to neighbors and friends at 804 Highland Street, Fleetwood Apartments, Orlando, Florida, after December 21.

New neighbors on Westbrook are Fred and Marie Oliver from Grand Rapids, old friends of the Roy Nelsons on Wellington. Mr. Oliver is manager of the Zurich Insurance Company. Daughter and son-in-law, Mary and John Trembley, and grand-daughter, Louise, 6, live in New York. The Olivers are both enthusiastic golfers.

Volunteers scheduled for G.O.C. duty November 26 are, 9 to 12, Genevieve Fellrath and Ginny Swift; 12 to 3, Florence Pless and Ruth Weaver; 3 to 6, Mary Scott and Doty Spillman.

The next cancer pad meeting will be held at the home of Edythe Kennedy on Wellington Road, Wednesday, November 28. Helpers will be Helen Weightman, Jo Thureson, Theresa McKay, Mary Tyghem, Doty Spillman, Mary Scott, Vera Blanchfeld and Florence Plewes.

Pres and Jo Schlotterbeck were host and hostess at a cocktail and dinner party for members and friends of the Farmington Players last Friday evening, the first evening of the players' presentation of "Lo and Behold" at the Farmington Junior High gymnasium. Jo's mother, Mrs. James P. McFarland, from Circleville, Ohio, who spent a week with Jo, joined in the festivities.
Mary McGuire served cocktails to 40 friends prior to their attending the Lambda Tau Delta Sorority Costume Ball held for the benefit of cerebral palsy victims, in the Veterans' Hall at Fenkell and Wyoming, November 10.
William and Mary Scott dropped in "just for a moment"; Zar and Barbara Reader were Mouseketeers; Bill and Aileen Dornan, Swiss yodellers; Don Horton portrayed "Harvey" straight out of "Equiper"; while Doty was a ballet dancer; Leon and Grace Taylor were Mexicans; Richard Wheeler was a peon, dying of love for Dorothy, the Spanish dancer; handsome Arab Lorne Blanchford kept a close eye on his harem dancer, Vera; Harry and Ginny Lang could really Charleston in their costumes reminiscent of the gay twenties, and host Wilfred as a butler was a real help to Mary; a French maid.
Franklin guests included the Ray Adams, Harold Andersons, Jack Steyskals, Richard Horsts and the Frank Wilsons, parents of five children, who came as bride and groom.

Attention, Woodcreek square dancers! Jack Richards of Wellington is president and Florence is membership chairman of the Mel-Dot Trotters, a truly smooth group of square dancers, who have been meeting every other Saturday in the West Bloomfield Town Hall for more than a year. Other Woodcreekers besides ourselves, who enjoyed Melvin Sheffer's calling, last Saturday evening, were the Bob Weavers, James Davis' and the Fred Syersons.
