People looking for food values should look in the poultry department, suggests Consumer Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawler. At current prices, chicken parts are just as good as value from the standpoint of cost, and perhaps a greater value from the standpoint of satisfaction.

EGGS GOOD

Eggs are important in meals every day, and economical, too, states Consumer Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawler. This is the season for heavy supplies of high quality eggs, and prices have taken a fall compared to last month. A pound of eggs, or six size large eggs, will give the same valuable proteins found in a pound of meat, fish or cheese, yet the eggs cost only 22 to 27 cents.
