Plan To Form Lipreading Class In Area

If enough residents in the southwestern Oakland County area show an interest in lipreading, a class in or near Farmington will be formed this fall, Mrs. Margaret James of Farmington disclosed recently.

Further information about the proposed local class can be obtained by calling Mrs. James at GR. 4-0988 or Miss Flora Sinclair at the Detroit Hearing Center at Fairmont 1-453. A copy of the "Hearing News" will also be sent upon request, it was indicated.

All residents of Oakland County with hearing problems are extended a welcome to join the Detroit Hearing Center, Mrs. James said. Many types of social and service activities as well as lipreading instruction are available, she commented. Members of the group range in age from 19 to 90. The young people have their own group and meet separately as well as with the older members.

Hearing testing and office treatments of hearing aids can be had at the Detroit Center free of charge but reservations must be made in advance, Mrs. James remarked. Occasionally there are used aids which proven needy people may obtain for little or no charge.

Summer seems closer now, that the homegrown season is started. Local asparagus and rhubarb can be found on some produce counters and in the farmers markets reports M.S.U.'s Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Sawyer.

Best Editors --- To The Editor:

It was very considerate of "Farmington Taxpayer" to pass on the information, i.e., "graduates of public schools do better scholastically than graduates of private schools" gleaned from a study made at Princeton University. I've always understood otherwise, but unfortunately, I can quote no "studies" to back this up.

However, what qualifying remarks may have been in the blank spaces of the quote, I have all the respect in the world for Princeton University, but it is only one of many universities in the United States.

I agree with "Farmington Taxpayer" that our public school children are receiving a good education (after all both public and private students must use the same scholastic mark), but the writer should also have known that the letter would rub someone the wrong way—like me.

After all the private school taxpayers shoulders his own and the public school tax as well and never doubts that it "counts" for something at "Farmington Taxpayer" if. If we all decide to get our money's worth out of the public school system, all our children would be getting far less than half-day sessions.

We're happy that our children are attending school on full-day sessions and would like to see all public school pupils enjoy the same privilege. However, it does not seem reasonable to believe you can accumulate as much knowledge in a half day as in a whole day as was indicated.

Ground Observers --- To The Editor:

The U.S. Air Force has requested that all civilians cooperate with them in the defense of our country. The need is for each person to take an active part in the Air Force program.

The Ground Observer Corp is a part of the eyes of the Air Force; human eyes that watch the skies for enemy planes that pose a threat to the well being of our great nation, eyes that see into the future of coming generations, the safety and well being of the aged and the young. To each involved is the safety of themselves, their loved ones and their business. All they own, human and material is at stake with the threat that is facing all mankind.

The work involved in the sky watch program is relatively easy. It is mainly watching for all movement in the skies. Planes or flying objects. Upon sighting the plane it is recorded on a message pad and a phone call is made to the filter center. The information given tells the number of planes sighted, the type, the function, the altitude, direction from the post, distance from the post and the direction the aircraft is flying. The whole report including the recording and phone call can and usually is made in 40 seconds. Anyone can carry out the work it is so easy. We enjoy learning to identify aircraft without the hard technical lessons that so often confronts a person.

The fellowship that exists between our fellow patriotic Americans is known to each of us. We, like you, started new and have grown to realize the wonderful cooperation we civilians get from the Air Force. It is a privilege to serve in this capacity. Won't you join us in helping others in this program.

Looking Ahead By Dr. GEORGE S. BENSON

(Continued from Page 2C) future. And preferably write this down and sign it. And if you do this, that's all we want." And it was.

Later 10 informed-upon soldier-prisoners would be brought together and asked by the "instructor" to talk about their wrongdoing in a discussion group atmosphere. "When these 10 men would walk out of a self-criticism group," Major Myer said, "they'd walk in ten separate directions, distrustful of each other, divided. Like those sticks in the well known parable that you can break so easily when they're apart, and that are so strong if they're together."

Further Isolation Sooner or later nearly everybody had been informed-upon. In addition to this dividing technique the Communists intercepted all prisoner mail from home which expressed love and spoke of anything which might have encouraged the prisoner. They delivered all mail which contained depressing substance — notices from collection agencies, complaining letters from loved ones, or the notice of illness in the family. This further isolated the Americans from loved ones and country, and made them vulnerable to the undermining "brain-washing" program.

"This program," Major Myer said, "did everything the Communists wanted it to do. It didn't turn anybody into a Communist because it wasn't designed for that. A small percentage of the people in the Communist world are Communists. The great majority are acquiescers. The great majority are simply cowed and somehow pushed along by this system which doesn't look like anything you can fight. It's not very dangerous appearing. It just controls you. You don't have to be a coward to give in to it. Major Myer feels that this exposes a weakness in America — that we are not adequately teaching our great religious, moral and social principles — the values which can make men immune to "brain-washing." It agrees.

PINEAPPLE This is pineapple buy time, reminds Mrs. Josephine Sawyer, M.S.U. Marketing Information Agent. Pick one that is free from decay or mold at the base or around the eyes. Eyes should be almost flat and not pointed. A pineapple should be heavy for its size. Fresh pineapple must be cooked and eaten before it is put in a gelatin mixture or it will not get.
