Senior Citizens May Study Free In Livonia Evening School Classes

Senior citizens residing in the Livonia School district may now enroll in the scores of avocational, vocational, hobby, and other leisure time courses offered in eight evening school centers throughout the city. There are no tuition fees for men and women who are 65 or more years old.

Classes in practical arts, safety, health education, family life, business education, fine arts, and other areas which are not co-sponsored by other agencies are free.

Among the courses popular with senior citizens in the past were ceramics, music appreciation, investment in stocks, flower arranging, mosaic tile, millinery, painting, and sewing. Well over one hundred such courses are offered in the current fall evening school term. Suburban senior citizens who have taken craft courses in evening school are invited to exhibit their creations in the Twelfth Annual Senior Citizens Art and Crafts exhibit to be held at the Detroit Historical Museum from October 9 through November 1. The grand opening will be held on Friday, October 9 at 1:00 p.m.

The deadline for submitting exhibits is Friday, October 2. There is no entry fee.

School Board Trustee Streisla Schreiber urged all senior citizens in Livonia to enroll in the tuition-free courses.

"This is an excellent way for grandmothers, grandfathers, and others over 65 to stay young," Mrs. Schreiber said. "We hope that a great many of you take advantage of these courses so that next year, the suburbs will be well represented in the annual arts and crafts exhibit at the Historical Museum."

See Court Fight Brewing Over Marguerite Vollbrecht Will

Indications that there may be a suit brewing over the provisions of the will of wealthy Marguerite Vollbrecht, eccentric Plymouth resident who died more than a month ago, were given when Attorney Earl Demel filed appearance papers for all heirs at law in Wayne County Probate Court.

Demel's action was on behalf of Joseph Pace, brother of the deceased; Mrs. Josephine Strom, a sister; and nephews and nieces, Henry Gregory, Rose Mason, Elizabeth Blasko and William Gregorovic. The Vollbrecht will was filed in Probate Court on Sept. 1.

Released Time Rule Has No Response in Livonia, Plymouth, Redford Schools

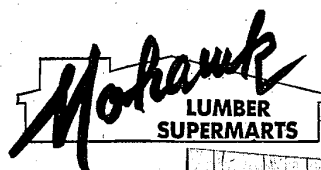

A new state ruling allowing released time from public school classes for private religious education has been ignored or unnoted so far by students in Livonia, Redford Township and Plymouth area schools.

No pupils in any of the area's four school districts have requested released time, officials of Livonia, Redford, Union, Plymouth and South Redford Schools report. The new rule, which went into effect at the beginning of this year's school term, permits up to two hours of released time weekly. Summarized by Lynn Bartlett, the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, the regulation states: "The board of education or its duly authorized representative, upon written request of the parent, guardian or person having control or charge of any child or children, shall release from attendance at the public school any child or children to attend religious instruction classes.
