

Openings For Girl Scout Leaders

BY MRS. CARL JOHNSTON
Southeast Farmington Neighborhood Girl Scout Association resumed meeting on Sept. 18 at the Wheeler Street Fire Hall. Twenty-four ladies were present representing 19 troops of Brownies, Junior and Cadet Girl Scouts.

Plans call for another Annual Bonfire to be held late in October.

Again we will provide a Uniform Sale for those girls who either have uniforms to sell or desire to buy a used uniform. It will be held from 10:00 a.m. till 2:00 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 10, at 21252 Robinson. Be sure to call your leader for details. Uniforms must have your name, address, phone number and price on an envelope attached to the uniform. They must be delivered before the day of the sale.

There are still a few openings for leaders and assistant leaders. If you enjoy working with girls please introduce yourself.

We are pleased to announce that Mrs. Robert Williams will be handling the Calendar Sale. Be sure to urge your girls to get behind Fink and make it big success. The girls will reap the benefits.

It is with regret that we say good-bye to Vivian Erickson as ment, purchasers of the buck-and-half tickets will get to see Farmington's gift to the U.S. Olympic team.

The Board admits that its strings of lights were rather thin last Christmas. Its goal for this year is 20 strings. To accomplish this, it will need to raise about $4,000.

It would like about 100 contributors — businesses, industries, etc. — to contribute about $40 each.

To insure that it gets the materials it needs, the Board will have to place its order in the next three weeks.

Guest of honor, was Robert Winkle, executive vice president of Crowley's. "Our three stores" he said, "are doing less volume now than in 1954."

He admitted that Crowley's downtown store has been losing money. "But we think it is on the move again. We think its going to come back—not strong, not fast. Our lease runs out in 1976. We'll be re-negotiating soon."

As Winkle sees it, the shift of population to the suburbs confronted American business with a revolutionary situation. His firm, he concedes, was much too slow in moving to the suburbs. "Even Hudson's was too slow."

The shift of population has been a massive one. According to Winkle, Detroit has lost about 14 per cent of its population since 1950; while Macomb County has gained 14 per cent during the same period.

Business, to where the people are. The merchant, who stands too long, will die in his tracks. We, at Crowley's, know that, because we stood.

Now, however, Crowley's is on the move again. It hopes to open a new store, in the Livonia Mall, on October 19—one that will be bigger than its Dearborn store.

Winkle does not foresee his firm overtaking the Hudson Co. in size. But he does expect Crowley's to be Michigan's second department store.

Facts, Opinions

ring... "Happily the United States gives to bigotry no sanction, to persecution no assistance."

Moreover, the letter is as fresh as the morning frost in the way it treats integration and civil rights. George Washington's letter was written (following a visit) to the Hebrew Congregation in Newport, R.I. in 1790.

Some pertinent sentences: "Citizens of the United States of America have a right to applaud themselves for having given to mankind examples of an enlarged and liberal policy; a policy worthy of imitation."

"All possess equal liberty of conscience and immunities of citizenship. It is no more than toleration is spoken of, as if it was by the indulgence of one class of people, that another enjoyed the exercise of their inherent rights..."

"For happily the Government of the United States, which gives to bigotry no sanction, to persecution no assistance, requires only that they who live under its protection, should demean themselves as good citizens, in giving it on all occasions their effectual support..."

"...may the Children of the Stock of Abraham, who dwell in this land, continue to merit and enjoy the good will of the other inhabitants, while everyone shall sit in safety under his own vine and fig tree, and there shall be none to make him afraid..."

The author, we remind, was President Washington and not Rev. Martin Luther King.

There isn't a professional politician in the land who isn't predicting that some of the most frantic political maneuvering possible will emerge from the Goldwater campaign. "It's apt to be downright hysterical," is one comment.

Sen. Goldwater's showing in the recent election polls has been more dismal than even the greatest pessimists in the party could have imagined.

It's a situation where it would appear there's little for him to do but to take gun powder and "go for broke" during the next short month before Nov. 3.

Kiwanians Invite Candidates to Speak

The Kiwanis Club of Farmington has invited Township candidates to speak at its 6:30 p.m. dinner Tuesday, October 20, at Botsford Inn.

Usually Township elections are held in the Spring. This is the bottomed out election. The attention on local contests at a time when national and state tickets dominate the news. Republican and Democratic contestants for the offices of Supervisor, Trustee, and Justice of the Peace are expected to give a short talk.

The public is cordially invited.

The winner of this year's Pageant will receive a $250 cash grant for the express purpose of financing her education after graduation from high school.

The Junior Miss Pageant is a national program for high school girls sponsored by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce. It differs from a "beauty contest" in that the girls are judged primarily on mental abilities, scholastic achievement, poise and personality, rather than physical appearance. The highest moral standard is maintained at all times.

After local competition, winners advance to state finals and the state Junior Miss then competes nationally for the title "America's Junior Miss."

Farmington girls sponsored by the Farmington Junior Chamber of Commerce announced plans this week for a scholarship in connection with their annual Junior Miss Pageant.

Mrs. Avery Warns New Taxpayers

Mrs. Elise Avery, Farmington Township Treasurer, cautions new residents of the Township to be sure to come in to the Township Hall, and get their names on the tax rolls.

She recently witnessed the tragic result of a case, in which a man failed to do so. Because he was not on the rolls, he received no tax bills. This pleasant arrangement went on until it was discovered—14 years later. The state immediately took the house away from him.

The man now has the case in the hands of an attorney, and Mrs. Avery is hopeful he will redeem his house. But 14 years is a lot of taxes to make up.

Mortuary Equipment Recovered

Lt. Thomas R. Schriber, of the Farmington Township Police, out patrolling on Thursday night, Oct. 1, spotted what appeared to be a pile of discarded trash.

On inspection, it turned out to be valuable mortuary equipment. Schriber went back to headquarters with it, and found that it had been samples dumped from a station wagon a number of years ago.

The samples included a brass crucifix, a stainless steel, floating cabinet stand with black rubber tires, and some loose-leaf notebooks, titled "In Memory Of."

An escapee from the Iowa State Hospital was apprehended by Farmington Township Police, on Monday, Sept. 28.

The escapee was Dale McKenzie, of 30621 Fink, in Farmington Township. Police had been watching the house, and spotted him there. The arresting officers were Det. Russell Conway and P.I. Stephen Santo.

McKenzie did not resist. He was returned to Ionia.

Set Talk on Funerals

American funeral customs will be explored by Robert Miles Eddy at the 10 a.m. service Sunday, Oct. 11, at the Universalist Unitarian Church of Farmington in his talk "Can You Afford to Die?"

Mr. Eddy said he would describe the more valid parts of the funeral system in this country today, and also outline "some specific suggestions for members of the church and society which they saved for their children, being used in a pointless and pagan show."

The regular Sunday schedule will include a coffee break, two discussion groups at 11 a.m. and church school from 10 a.m. to noon.

Youngsters Win At Hockey

The Farmington Flyers of the Olympia Hockey League 10 to 12 year old class won a pair of games at the Windsor Arena last week.

The Flyers A team beat the Windsor Mustangs, last year's League runner-up, 5 to 1. The Flyers B team beat the Windsor Panthers by the same score.

Romney

the Democratic politicians and a few labor leaders."

After his speech, Romney endorsed a group of GOP candidates standing beside him: Rep. P. J. Connelley, for State Senate from the 14th Dist.; Sen. Farrell Roberts for Mich. Court of Appeals; Richard Kuhn, for U.S. Congressman from the 19th Dist.; and David Calhoun, for Oakland County Clerk. Ray Barker, who was not present was endorsed by the Governor for State Rep. from the 94th dist.

Then Romney threw himself open to questions: a state income tax? "I don't want one as long as we don't need one, and right now we don't need one."

The inevitable question about Barry Goldwater. "I pointed out after the Hersey Conference that my party made a choice; and if you are going to have a two-party system, you must abide (that choice). I fought for my principles, at San Francisco, and for nearly a year, and I'm not going to say anything that will compromise that position..."

My opponent is trying to run against Barry Goldwater. He assured the crowd that he will not vote for Johnson.

Then the Governor, and his motorcade, drove to the lovely home of Mrs. Isabel Haynes, for a rest a year, and I'm not going to say anything that will compromise that position..."

Romney's followers have a different sort of commitment. They do not idolize him, but they do like and admire him. They are sober and serious. They do not wear their hearts on their sleeves.

But they are numerous. And while they may not turn out for rallies, they will turn out to vote.

For his followers at Kendallwood, Romney had the same message he had delivered at the Farmington Center—with some additions:

"The mess in Lansing was a lot of things. For one thing, it was spending money we didn't have."

"We've put much of that money back. We paid 105 million back to the veterans trust fund; and built a $6 million dollar surplus."

"We're the only state, besides Alaska and Hawaii, to adopt a new, modern constitution."

"My opponent says we are more interested in fiscal integrity than in people. Well, you can't be interested in people if you are not interested in fiscal integrity, because you've got to have the means to help people."

Following the speech, the Governor climbed off the truck, and attempted to return to his car. He was immediately seized by a group of happy, excited children—all clutching at him. He kept smiling. But flashes of annoyance showed through.

Tom Nolan, of Farmington Township, who had guided him throughout the day, now managed to squeeze him from his car. "You've done a terrific job. A terrific job," he said to Tom. Then he was off for the Mile and a Half in Pontiac.

Artist Joins Nat'l. Agency

Thomas Woodward, a resident of Farmington, Mich., has joined the national advertising agency, D. P. Brothers & Company, as a staff artist.

Woodward and his wife live at 29010 West Eight Mile Road, Farmington. They have one child, Thomas Bryan, born August 30. He graduated from the American Academy of Art in Chicago in 1963.

Creative Living Stressed in Farmington 'V' Classes

Several interesting and capable personalities are scheduled to conduct Classes in Creative Living held at the Farmington Area YMCA.

Those interested in Bridge will be pleased to know that Cliff Bishop will teach beginners and advanced bridge with duplicate and supervised play. Mr. Bishop has devoted his life to this fascinating game and spends all of his time in the instructional aspect of it.

Mrs. Betty Brown, president of the Farmington Garden Club, will lead a demonstration in Flower Arranging. Those attending will be inspired by this vivacious person who makes arrangements beyond description. The last two classes will be devoted to Christmas Arrangements.

A new experiment in a Men's Chorus will find Don Otto, a Farmington music man, at the helm. Otto has organized a chorus and choral groups of adults and young people and will bring much to this exciting activity. Men from all walks of life can find enjoyment in barbershop or good choral music.

Furcraft will enable the modern woman to create a lovely fur piece through a program of design and processing. The old fur coat can become a choice garment with the capable instruction of Mrs. Helen Hunter. Having taught many such classes, Mrs. Hunter has consented to teach this Tuesday afternoon class in her already-busy teaching schedule.

Mrs. Barbara Brunk will show you how to use old woolen material to create a beautiful Hooked Rug. A Farmington resident, Mrs. Brunk has spent much of her spare time in the pursuit of this hobby.

For community leaders of all types and groups, a specially designed course in Leadership Development is being coordinated by Mr. A. Charles Wise, local YMCA Director. Goal setting, decision making, communication, duties and responsibilities of officers, and group dynamics are included. Mr. Wise will tailor the course to meet the needs of the participants.

Mrs. Austin of Ye Olde Knit Shoppe will handle a class in the art of Knitting. She has taught at J. L. Hudson and has a wealth of experience of her own time in pursuing this craft. Creative Theater will offer those with theatrical aspirations a chance to know Mrs. Hope Nahatoli. Her experience with the Farmington Players and associated groups enables her to do a course in showing people the techniques of the theater.

For teens (15, 16, 17) and adults, Mr. Larry Palmer will conduct several classes in Auto Driving. Mr. Palmer represents Electric Enterprises and has been duly trained and certified by the State Department of Public Instruction. Both day and night classes will be held.

Mrs. Dorothy Carpenter and Mrs. Nancy Mitchell will head a group of hat makers. They will be working with all sorts of materials and will be helping the participants to create a hat to match their personality. Mrs. Carpenter is owner and operator of the De Anny Millinery Shop.

Holiday Decorations will offer many fascinating hours of enjoyment with Mrs. Irene MacKinnon. Highlighting the Fall Festivals, Mrs. MacKinnon will show how to make beautiful decorations for Halloween, Thanksgiving and Christmas from inexpensive materials.

Many of the classes that are in the process of organization are Interior Decorating, Great Music, Great Books, Cake Decorating, Great Religions, Oil Painting and Candle Making.

Anyone interested in the details of the above programs are urged to call the YMCA at 474-2322 or write the Y at Grand Avenue under $100.00 plus YMCA membership. Register your interest today.

Fire Prevention Week

calendar care with fire can hold the fire toll down.

Despite all fire safety efforts, 11,800 persons died in fires last year, thousands more were injured, and property dollar losses from fire increased to a new record of $1,485,555,000. However, without fire prevention efforts, losses might be three times their current size, says the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters, The National Board says your aid in carrying the fire prevention message to your readers.

In a statement released to the press at the Council meeting, Chief Maurice D. Foltz, of the Farmington Department of Public Safety, announced that his department will hold a public house on Saturday, Oct. 10, from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. for residents community-wide. It will be a celebration with refreshments and free favors.

The latest fire equipment will be shown, along with many other features used in fire prevention. Two life-size models of a house and a school will be on display, along with "Smoke" the fire dog.

Chief Foltz urges the public to observe its vigilance. At the same time, his statement indicates that there is a hopeful trend in fire prevention:

"The year 1963 was the seventh consecutive one in which fire losses exceeded $1 billion, according to the National Board of Fire Underwriters."

"The growth of this country, the Board says, has of itself contributed to the high level of fire losses."

"We are glad to report that some real progress has been made in the fight against fire. For example, since 1950 there has been an increase of 34,500,000 in the population of this country, 13,750,000 new housing units have been added, and thousands of new residential and manufacturing units have been built. The new structures have increased the number of burnable buildings."

"However, the burning rate—the ratio of dollar loss to national wealth—has been declining steadily over the years, indicating progress in the never-ending fight to prevent fire waste."

"As the nation observes Fire Prevention Week this month—which comes October 4-10—it's a good time for everyone to use care with fire and try to help us stem this needless destruction of our resources."

"Fire takes its toll in lives. Last year there were 11,800 fire fatalities and tens of thousands more were injured in fires."

"We can cut down the national toll in lives and property by keeping our homes free of hazards, throwing out accumulations of old newspapers and combustible trash, keeping our electrical equipment in good repair, and using particular care with matches and smoking."

Total deposits of the bank on September 30, 1964 rose to $1,149,420,016 from total deposits of $1,021,396,319 as of a year ago.

On Sept. 30 total resources were $1,287,886,210 against the total resources of $1,108,944,293 which were $1,549,424,293 as of Sept. 30, 1963. Total assets of $1,287,886,210 included $83,000,160 of Capital Notes issued September 15, 1964, and per share book value amounted to $45.55.

Counties Share $5.4 Million In Road Funds

The apportionment of federal matching funds for construction on state and county secondary roads was announced recently by State Highway Commissioner John C. Meekle.

Meekle said Michigan will receive $68,519,592 in federal funds for secondary road construction during the fiscal year starting next July, an increase of about $50,000 compared to the current fiscal year.

The State Highway Department will retain approximately 39 per cent of the funds or $2,815,535 for use as its secondary system.

The state's 83 counties will receive $4,610,245.

Each county road commission must match the federal funds on a 50-50 basis and may be used for construction purposes only. The money is allocated to the counties on the basis of land area, population and road mileage.

Wayne County will receive $668,852; followed by Oakland, $328,182; Kent, $146,705, and Genesee, $137,253.

All Figures Up At Manufacturers

Net operating income of Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit for the nine-month period ended Sept. 30 amounted to $8,122,031 or $4.14 per share on the 1,478,985 shares outstanding. It was announced by William A. Mayberry, chairman of the board and Roland A. Newbort, president.

Comparable net operating income for the same period in 1963 was $5,548,714 or $3.29 per share after adjusting for the 8% stock dividend paid in January, 1964.

Total deposits of the bank on September 30, 1964 rose to $1,149,420,016 from total deposits of $1,021,396,319 as of a year ago.

On Sept. 30 total resources were $1,287,886,210 against the total resources of $1,108,944,293 which were $1,549,424,293 as of Sept. 30, 1963. Total assets of $1,287,886,210 included $83,000,160 of Capital Notes issued September 15, 1964, and per share book value amounted to $45.55.
