

GOP Drive To End with Bonfire Rally

Republicans of the area will join in a giant bonfire rally which will cap the 1964 election campaign on Saturday, Oct. 31. Televised coverage of the proceedings will be carried on stations throughout Michigan.

To plan the Bonfire Rally, all GOP and Romney county and campaign chairmen met Tuesday night.

Back the attack on all traffic accidents — support your local safety council.

IT'S IRISH all the way when Tenor Freddy Martin presented Publisher Paul Chandler with a real Shellegh from Ireland. Freddy and his American wife Nora (center) just returned from the Shellegh. He introduced Nora to his parents for the first time. They have been married a year. The Irish tenor is a favorite of Publisher Chandler, who, along with many others from the area, is able to enjoy his songs at Livonia Knights Inn weekly.

Junior Achievement Centers Re-Open In Redford, Plymouth

Teenage "businessmen" in Redford Township, Livonia, Farmington and Plymouth got back to work last week, when doors of two local Junior Achievement Centers opened for another year.

The organization, which promotes the establishment of student-run business corporations, has two centers in the western suburban area—one in Redford

Township at 28905 Grand River, and one in Plymouth at 585 W. Ann Arbor Trail.

Staff members of the organization have recruited 1964-65 volunteers to help in training periods for this year's JA projects, and seven JA staff members and six company executives are addressing their school assemblies throughout southeastern Michigan to help recruit 6,000 teenagers for the program.

Let's Talk Travel

by Eleanor Atkinson

With the winds of winter approaching Michigan thoughts fly to places under the sun. There indeed is no other territory of similar size in the world that provides such numerous and varied attractions, such wide range of stimulating contrasts, such ample chance for complete recreation, as does the Republic of Mexico.

The reason why a million or more American visitors have traveled to Mexico in the course of recent years, is that the average practical-minded person regards recreation travel from the angle of maximum returns at a minimum outlay of money and time. To duplicate its multiple attractions one would have to cross oceans, travel thousands of miles and spend thousands of dollars.

And — as regards climate, Mexico defies all comparison. The visitor in Mexico can choose his climate as one selects a meal a la carte. Here climate is determined vertically rather than horizontally. By going up or down it is possible to adjust the temperature to the individual taste. In two hours' journey from the high plateau of Mexico City one can travel from sturdy pine to swaying palms. If Mexico's climate offers an almost incomparable range and variety, it is fairly surpassed by its landscape. Nature has endowed every part of the world with such prodigious store of the picturesque, the exotic, and the awe-inspiring.

Mexico, land of the ancient Aztecs, has a wide range of attractions for everyone — fabulous beaches and world-famous resorts; modern cities flavored with the old; the Old Spain; volcanoes, snow-capped mountains; blooming deserts; thrilling bullfights; colorful fiestas; a gastronomic feast; luxurious hotels; the gayest of night clubs. You will find all these — and receive more than 12 pesos for your dollar.

School Boards Plan Year's Meetings

Wayne County's School Board Association under the leadership of Mr. Frank Gallagher, Dearborn, and Vice-President Jack Rzeside of Redford Township, Program Chairman, have announced a complete schedule of educational topics for its monthly meetings. Meetings are held on the third Thursday of each month in a different district.

The executive directors of the Wayne County School Board Association had the assistance of their special advisory committee in formulating the interesting and exciting yearly schedule. Roy Robinson, Director of the Detroit Metropolitan Bureau of School Services; Dr. Roderick Smith, Superintendent of Schools in Dearborn Heights School District No. 8; and William A. Shunk, Superintendent of Wayne County Intermediate School District, assisted.

Topics for the coming year include the following:
Oct.—Innovational Instructional Developments
Nov.—"Negotiating" with employees group
Dec.—Annual Workshop
Feb.—Tenure for teachers?
Mar.—New legislation of importance
April—Fostering staff growth
May—Data Processing
Next meeting of the School Board Association will be held at Highland Park High School on October 22. Modern math, special projects in English, the new look in chemistry, and what's happening in physical science classes will be explored as all the members of the 43 school districts gather to learn more about the latest instructional developments.

Superintendent of the Wayne County Office of Education, William Shunk, will discuss all the coming implications of the recently passed Legislative Act 289. In the near future committees will be formed to implement this reorganization bill.
