

Redford, Plymouth Join In Junior Achievement Growth

Junior Achievement — with branches in both Redford Township and Plymouth — today surpassed the 400 mark in its record climb in southeastern Michigan.

Jack MacDonald, coordinator of the J.A. Plymouth business center, 585 W. Ann Arbor Trail, and Ted Sherwood, manager of the Redford Township business center, 28905 Grand River, said:

"The current standing of 401 miniature J.A. companies was reached Thursday when 37 more teenagers enrolled in the educational program to form two additional companies. Two adult advisor teams each consisting of three volunteer businessmen from Chrysler Corporation and the Detroit Junior Chamber of Commerce, were assigned to the new companies."

"Interested high school juniors and seniors can still enroll in the free program designed to give them a working knowledge of our American free enterprise system 'by doing.' Any students, regardless of race, color or creed, is welcome to enroll at any of the 16 different Junior Achievement Business Centers in S.E. Michigan."

"The companies are formed every Fall with the teenagers being divided into groups of 20, assigned a team of volunteer advisors from business and industry and incorporated under regulations similar to the laws of Michigan. They elect their own officers, sell stock, and go into production of a product of their own choosing."

"Meeting one evening a week from 7 to 9 p.m. in their neighborhood centers, the students keep business records, conduct board of directors meetings, prepare advertising and selling campaigns, and generally operate the way their cousins do in big business."

Aside from gaining actual on-the-job experience in running their own corporations, members of Junior Achievement are invited to attend functions of the Detroit Economic Club, Sales/Management Executives, National Secretaries Association, Greater Detroit Safety Council, Young Presidents' Organization, Employers Association of Detroit, Michigan Association of C.P.A.'s and many other professional organizations. Sponsoring the firms often have J.A. Days in their plants; achievers meet the workers on the production lines, and have visits with the corporate executives.

"In May the companies are voluntarily liquidated and their stockholders sent a published report of company standing. Eighty-two per cent of the 367 companies last year paid their stockholders a dividend."

"The program in Southeastern Michigan was started in 1949 and has grown to be the largest in the nation, encompassing 10% of the national Junior Achievement program. Over 1,200 adult advisors have been trained to assist each company in the fields of management, production and sales."

"As a non-profit, educational organization, J.A. is supported locally through an annual fund campaign. Last year, under the chairmanship of Earl Ward, Vice-President-Consultant of Ford Motor Company, and four co-chairmen, some six hundred campaign workers from Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne counties solicited $300,000 from four thousand business concerns and individuals, thus enabling Junior Achievement to continue expanding its work in the field of economic education among our young citizens."

"While the present opportunity for membership in J.A. is most evident at the Wayne, Schaefer, and Grand River Business Centers, teenagers interested in joining are invited to call the J.A. Headquarters at VE 4-6660, or phone or visit their neighborhood center between 7 and 9 p.m., Monday through Thursday."

Meeting Of Easter Seal Group Slated

The Easter Seal Society of Western Wayne County is serving as one of the local area host agencies for the Annual Convention of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults to be held at the Statler-Hilton Hotel in Detroit, Nov. 13-16.

Preliminary programs and general information concerning the Conference, to which everyone interested in the physically handicapped is invited, may be secured from the Easter Seal Society of Western Wayne County, PA 2-3055.

Wayne Brenkert, who captained the 1918 Wayne State football team, was the first player in the history of the sport to pass for a point-after-touchdown.

School Project Highlights United Nations Week

Sparked by international attention on the United Nations this month, fourth and fifth grade students in the Jackson School, at 32025 Lyndon, have set up special exhibits and programs to draw attention to the independence in today's rapidly shrinking world.

Mrs. Olive Goodman, the teacher in charge of the youthful researchers, said that her young charges had divided themselves into committees and teams to work on various projects.

In the Jackson library showcases there are coins and "curios from various countries of the world. Another exhibit of dolls from many continents is drawing a great deal of interest from school children and visitors. Flags of a number of member nations were made by some of the boys in the class, while Larry Evans conceived a United Nations poster for the occasion.

Yesterday, (Tuesday, Oct. 27) a program was presented for fellow-students in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades, by children dressed in costumes of many nationalities. The class participated in singing two songs accompanied by an over-gellic rhythm band. A play, written by Eleanor Robb, "The Mings Family at the United Nations Building" and another written by Gayle Wise, "The Magic Suitcase," was presented.

Principal Robert Kelllogg said, "A poem, written by Bernadette Wiener, a fourth grader, seems to sum up the spirit of the United Nations. It reads: The United Nations is in New York."
