IN A RURAL SETTING, the winter-weight pants suit makes great sense. The melton pea jacket is beautifully shaped, and pleated for extra warmth. Other details worthy of note: half-moon shaped pockets, up and down; double-breasted closing; pants are wider and lined. Misses' sizes, in camel, red, loden or navy, about $35 at Sears.

Little plastic bags filled with salted nuts and tied with pretty ribbons make good "stocking-stuffers," advise home economists from Fisher Nut Co. The bags can be folded from 4"x4" squares of clear plastic or cellophane.

To Women It May Concern

By MYRA COX

(Editor's Note: Myra Cox will not write her column this week.)

By SUE SHAUGHNESSY

During the past few weeks this writer's reading material has been filled with literally thousands of words on the meaning and spirit of Christmas.

These runs the gamut from the commercial cards from the dentist to urgings from clergymen to put Christ back into Christmas.

Of all of these, one theme recurs again and again. That is, to carry the spirit of Christmas throughout the year.

In other words, don't just think kind thoughts of your fellow man during the last two weeks of December. Maintain this mental attitude and translate it into action throughout the year.

Last Sunday while attending Church I heard an excellent sermon on what we are celebrating when Dec. 25 rolls around each year.

The theme was that Dec. 25 and the Christmas Season is a celebration of the Mystery of God's Love for Man. It was a well thought-out statement and here, too, was the thought of maintaining the Christmas spirit throughout the year.

A vital essence of Christmas is Love. That four letter word that has sent both the poets and the more prosaic of civilization into ecstasies throughout the years.

Hand in hand with the emotion of love is charity. This kind of charity is not writing a check for a needy organization so that Uncle Sam will receive less money in March. It is rather, a tolerance of other's beliefs, needs and failings. It is the ability to place yourself in the other person's shoes and acquire an understanding of his point of view.

Charity has many applications. It applies not only in refraining from gossip and slander, but in a positive action. Incurring the charge of redundancy I'll say it again—understanding.

Charity is relatively easy to practice in the abstract or towards the stranger. Where the application of this virtue is extremely difficult is towards those we know well and deal with every day.

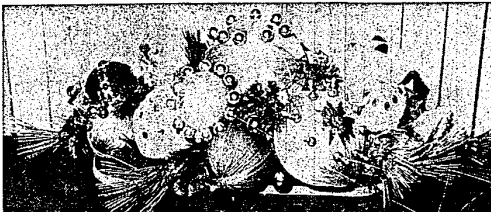

Application of this virtue is also difficult to practice in the home towards those we love.

This applies to the world about us. It includes the business, political, governmental and personal sphere. Wouldn't it be nice if it were easy all the time? However, on Christmas Day it is easy.

Why can't the intangible feeling of love and understanding that makes this practice so easy during the last days of the year be held on to and nourished throughout the year?

I have no answer for this question other than the shortcomings of human nature.

With a great deal of hard effort and help from the Almighty I believe that it can be done. I propose to try during 1965. Will you?

A CLEVER CENTERPIECE is the one pictured above. Besides being stunning in appearance, it can be used on the coffee table, dining table, hall table and can be stored from year to year. Any color scheme can be used—this particular one is in shades of blue and green.

Rubber balls of varying sizes are arranged in a design and then covered with yarn strands. Gold and silver designs and small Christmas tree ornaments are wired on the balls and sprigs of spruce and evergreen branches are tucked into the design.

Two Special Recipes Provided for Yule Festivities

Inasmuch as this is the holiday season, Farmington's social columnist Jerry Wendt was impelled to part with two favorite recipes.

Punch and appetizers are standard fare for the holidays and these are the two best recipes.

During the time Curt Hall has been Supervisor of Farmington Township and before that when he was a business man, and during the time her son Michael was a teen-ager, Roberta Hall did much entertaining. This punch was a favorite.

It has two outstanding features—first it is a true holiday color. A Christmas green, if you freeze cherries, and bits of pineapple in the ice cubes, and it makes a stunning centerpiece for your holiday table. Second, it is equally good with or without the addition of "spirit" as our Puritan ancestors used to call it. Wonderfully tart, it makes a perfect accompaniment to rich sandwiches and pastries.

ROBERTA HALL'S

HOLIDAY PUNCH

1 quart orange and grapefruit juice

1 quart lime juice

cherries, pineapple chunks, sliced fruit

Pour this all over a block of ice just before serving.

The second recipe is for a cheese spread which is so delicious—that guests will have a tendency to ignore all other foods. Besides that it is very decorative when served on a large dish surrounded by small rye breads, and all manner of crisp crackers.

COLLEEN DICKINSON'S

CHEESE ROLL

Force through food chopper

1/2 lb. of cheddar cheese and

1/2 cup blanched almonds.

Add 2 pkgs. (3 ounce each) of soft cream cheese and 1 tbl. of canned pimiento. Season with 2 teas. Worcestershire sauce. Garlic salt to taste. Shape into ball and sprinkle with paprika. Store covered in refrigerator, serve at room temperature.

Some of the auxiliary members attending were: Mrs. Sidney Gelman, Redford Township; Mrs. Eugene Sands, Oak Park; Mrs. Richard Bayles, Livonia; Mrs. Joseph Langman, Southfield; Mrs. David McSwain, Detroit; and Mrs. John Fischer, Dearborn.

Anniversary Celebration A Surprise

Brand new Farmington residents of Lincolnshire Jim and Louise Lewis were feted at a surprise 25 wedding anniversary party on Saturday, Dec. 19 given by the Dean T. Ziegler's of Kimberley.

Conspiring with Ziegler's to surprise the Lewis were: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ziegler; Mr. and Mrs. Ira Holmes; Mr. and Mrs. Milton Dickman; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Nelson; Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Ferguson; Mr. and Mrs. George Morosan; and Mr. and Mrs. Norval Clark.

The surprised couple walked into a setting of silver Christmas trees decorated with silver dollars and a two-tiered silver and white anniversary cake.

Soroptimists Award Prizes

The Plymouth Soroptimists recently held a contest during which they awarded a doll, "Miss Soroptimist" of 1964, and a complete wardrobe to Robert Walker of Detroit.

Included in the wardrobe was a gold brocade gown, a pale pink hand knit formal, slacks, hand knit sweaters, daytime and evening wear. Each article was designed and contributed by members of the Plymouth Soroptimists.

The second prize, a hand made Indian Brave was won by Irma Kaiser. Third prize, a matching Indian Squaw, went to Dorothy Fisher. Both of these recipients reside in Plymouth.
