The subdivision this week re-mains grief-stricken and still mourns the death of Helen Brown of Kiltaran on October 6, two hours after delivering a stillborn daughter at St. Mary's Hospital. We search in vain for a magic word to erase the shock, ease the pain or fill the void for Curt and his children, Karen, Michael, Mary, Kathy and Kevin. May it be some comfort to them to know that they have the deep sympathy and heartfelt prayers of their Kimberley neighbors.

Nancy O'Malley of Kiltaran remains hospitalized at St. Mary, now in the second week of recovery from the nightmarish attack she suffered on October 5 when the family's dog, an oversized boxer, suddenly turned on her and severely mangled her hip, leg, and arm. Nancy underwent emergency surgery that same night, and faces several weeks of absolute bed rest at home in addition to her current weeks of hospitalization.

JOHNNY NEWMAN, 13, the son of Jack and Dorothy of Dundalk, had been sent to the O'Malleys by his mother to borrow a card table that evening, and was present when the attack occurred. A very courageous young man, Johnny is responsible for pulling the dog off Nancy, applying a tourniquet to her arm, and holding it in place during the wild ride to the hospital.

Glad and joy are intermingled at the Magee household on Pipers Lane. Harry and Judy became the proud parents of a pound, 11 ounce daughter on September 27 at Saint Joseph's Hospital. Named Susan, the baby has one big brother, Bobby. The children's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mack of Washington, D.C., and Mrs. Arthur Magee of Wenonah, New Jersey. The family mourns the passing of Harry's father, Mr. Arthur Magee, just two days after Susan's birth. Judy's mother, Mrs. Charles Mack, spent the past month visiting the Magees and has now returned home.

OTHER VISITORS in the subdivision of late include Julia Mohr's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Rand. The Randos, formerly of Portland, Maine, stopped to visit the Mohrs en route to Las Vegas, Nevada, where they will make their home.

Polly Day's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Seward of Escondido, California, spent a month with the Days admiring their newest grandson, born on August 20. The Seward couple, in Kansas City to attend a wedding before continuing on to Detroit, and while here journeyed to Cleveland to visit relatives.

The gym nights for men at Beechview School sponsored by the PTA are now in progress on Thursday nights, 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. The gymnasium is open 8:30 to 9:30 to basketball. Kimberley girls are invited to join the group for either or both hours by simply going to the school at the appropriate time on Thursday nights.

The third annual smorgasbord and card party sponsored by the Holy Rosary Circle in Kimberley will be held at 8 p.m. on Wednesday night, October 21, at St. Fabians. No tickets will be sold at the door, so be sure to contact Rose Lombardi, 474-1070, to make your purchase in advance.

THE GIRLS RESPONSIBLE for making the Muscular Dystrophy drive so successful in Kimberley will be holding a luncheon recently at the home of Blossom Matlen. Thanks to their efforts and to your contributions, Kimberley was again high in the amount donated.

Our workers were Blossom Matlen, Lee Prover, Sara Derjarian, Dorothy Newman, Tove Houten, Peg Walker, Margaret Heuer, Barb Shaw, Betty Magee, Emily Carly, Martha Hendries, Emily Bowick, Lorraine Wilson, Patricia Morgan, Nancy Lenzen, and Phyllis Trombley.

Birthday cake and candles to Gary Mohr, 8 on October 2; to Billy Kourtian, 9, Kay Olson, 10, and Harri Allen, 15, on October 5; to Darcey Byers and Lynn Silver, two October 6 six-year-olds; to Gary Faunce, 4 on October 8; to Hugh McClelloney, not telling; Paul Miggs, 15, and Danny Mohr, 6, on October 10; to Tona Lance, 8, and Lorraine Wilson, over twenty-one, on October 11.

Joining, with some 30 or more other school districts in Oakland County in asking for bids for No. 3 oil for local schools to the jointly, the Farmington Board of Education will again be getting its oil for school heating at a price below what it would have to pay by taking bids alone.

The quotation per gallon this year is even lower than what was paid last year it was pointed out.

THE KIMBERLEY MEN'S golf league held their season's end banquet on Saturday night, September 26, at the Hillside Inn. Some twenty couples enjoyed dinner and dancing, and the presentation of trophies to the winning teams: Dick Wally Barringer and Chuck Evans; and second, Fletcher Armstrong and Ray Dudash. Fletcher was also awarded the golf league's medal trophy for the lowest game of the season. The league's new officers for next year are Chuck Evans, president, and Gus Huer, secretary.

Fletcher and Edna Armstrong of Kiltaran became grandparents for the tenth time on August 25. To their second daughter, Carol Zielinski, Carol and her husband now have five children, and the Armstrong's oldest daughter, Sharon, four children. Fletcher junior and his wife Jan lost their first born in June at the age of three months, and belated condolences are extended to the Armstrong clan. Fletcher junior, stationed in California, is now on Okinawa for 13 months and his wife Jan has returned to Detroit to stay with her mother during his tour of duty.
