will write the letters which will be more meaningful than just compliance with the law. Milhorne said also that the council in the future would ask that the school district be required to sign a certificate saying that they are above bias in hiring. OTHER LANSOP council members said that they would study school textbooks for accuracy, particularly concerning the Negro's role in history. They also would study the curriculum in the area of the teaching of social problems, race problem. "Suburban students are apt to have an artificial view of Negroes," Milhorne stated. "The reason for this is that too often they hear only of the misdeeds of the minority and do not realize that the majority are law-abiding citizens," he added. The Lansing Council on Human Relations, which is about one and one-half years old and has 150 members, is ready and willing to assist the School District in any area of human relations, Milhorne concluded.

IN DISCUSSION, Supt. Gerald V. Harrison asked the committee members that the district has observed unbiased hiring practices. He stated that teachers are considered strictly on their qualifications and that two Negro teachers had been offered teaching positions in Farmington. One applicant had gone elsewhere for higher pay, and the other had declined because she didn't want to be the only Negro teacher in the district. Board members indicated that they were in general accord with the committee's requests.

Twp. Offices to Be Closed Feb. 12, 22

It was announced this week that the Farmington Township offices will be closed this Friday, Feb. 12, and again on Monday, Feb. 22, in observance of Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays, respectively. The work is, however, that City of Farmington offices will not be closed on either of these dates, unless a last minute change in plans is made.

community needs predicated really effective planning. We had hoped at least to have the court to alter its previous position a little on future cases. Instead, it seems that the court has gone along with our position one hundred per cent. Justice Eugene Black said: "This case has turned out to be one of unusual difficulty. All members of the Court are agreed that our judgment is apt to influence permanently the development for residential purposes of many like tracts of vacant land; also that it is bound to have a broadly un-predictable effect upon suburban life in ever more populous southeastern Michigan." The Court recognized the importance of municipal planning for the future. In an opinion joined by Justices Souter and Kavanagh, Justice Paul Adams said: "One would not hesitate to condemn the design of a modern building which failed to make provision for use for a reasonable number of years. Surely the function of zoning is to plan a modern day community for continuing growth over a period of years. The growth cannot possibly come at once any more than a seed can spring into a tree overnight. Unless the pattern is set and followed, proper growth can never materialize. The alternative is to pay the price in crime, juvenile delinquency, inadequate sewers, inadequate roads, inadequate schools, inadequate parks, and, worst of all, inadequate housing for the people who will live in the pattern that has been all too clearly evident upon the American scene. A city, village or town is entitled to work out a better destiny than that of a suburban village, and this clear duty is statutory." JUSTICE OTIS Smith said in an opinion supported by Justices Adams and O'Hara: "There is a need to plan for the future. It is not a matter of mere speculation. It is a matter of necessity. It is a matter of necessity that community needs may be based thereon, such things as adequate sewage disposal, adequate recreation areas, schools and other community facilities. It is not merely some of the items which must be anticipated." Justice Smith warned, however, that the Court was not giving planners a blank check. "Community planners and municipal officials alike have a duty to plan within established principles of zoning law, and their projections must be realistic and not fanciful. Valid postulates of the several professional disciplines involved in planning must be not only asserted but convincingly proved, and they must be based on the facts of the case." THE FACT that three separate opinions were filed supporting the Township's position did not indicate any disagreement among the Justices but apparently reflected their recognition of the importance of the case to municipal development in Michigan, said Attorney Brennan.

In the fourth opinion, written by Justice Harry E. Kelly and joined in by Justice Delmers, Justice Kelly dissented from the majority on the ground that the plaintiffs property did not fit the Farmington Township's zoning plan. Both Justices Black and Smith, who had voted against the City of Troy's zoning plan, indicated that they would have reached a different result if Troy cases were being decided today. Smith said, "Upon added reflection it would seem that a contrary result might have been reached had we not tended to discredit what appeared to be the speculative nature of population 'projections' (and Brennan stated.

Stage Jr. Miss State Pageant

The Farmington Junior Chamber of Commerce was presented with the only Honorary Mention Award given at this year's Michigan Junior Miss Pageant, staged Saturday night, February 5, in Pontiac. The Farmington Jaycees were presented with the award for their "excellence in production" of the local Junior Miss Pageant staged in Farmington last November. JANICE PIERCE, a 17-year-old student at North Farmington High School, who walked off with the honors as this year's Junior Miss, competed with 24 other local winners at the state finals held in Pontiac Saturday night.

Patrice Gaunder, the representative of the Lake Shore Jaycees, was crowned the Michigan Junior Miss. She will compete this spring in Mobile, Alabama for the national title.

official Farmington City and Township newspaper. In the Township's application for planning assistance under the 701 program of the Federal Housing Act is approved, the township will be able to receive approximately $5,000 in assistance money to carry out a three-year program of updating its present planning and developing a true master plan for the township. It is reported that the township's share of the cost for this planning would be only $7,000 annually, or about $1,000 more than it is now spending for planning.

IN A REPORT to the Board, Township Attorney Terry Brennan stated that both a planning commission and zoning board could be retained by the township but he saw no value in having the two groups. His recommendation was that the zoning board be dissolved and a nine member planning commission be set up. Brennan emphasized the fact that development of such a master plan for the township would not change the present zoning ordinance. The township board will still retain all its authority regarding zoning and rezoning matters, he said. The master plan would serve only as a guide in letting off reflection it would seem that a contrary result might have been reached had we not tended to discredit what appeared to be the speculative nature of population 'projections' (and Brennan stated.

Pay Raises for Twp. Officials Opposed by Citizens League

Chairman John Hatfield of the non-partisan Farmington Citizens League issued the following statement of the League's position regarding the proposed salary increases for the Township officials: "THIS IS NOT a partisan issue," according to Hatfield, "and we are curious as to why all opposition to this pay raise is classified as sour grapes on the part of the Democrats." "Nearly 1700 voters signed the petitions to have this issue placed on the ballot, and it is a fact that both major political parties were represented by these petitioners. Rather than discuss this issue the Township officials have elected to call it by other names," Hatfield claims.

"While the Farmington Township Board has many months to make known their intent or desire to increase the salaries of the officials, it was not on 1964: Township Tax Base Population Supervisor Clerk Treasurer
Farmington 85,000,000 21,000 $10,000 $8,500 $8,500
Farmington 82,000,000 27,000 $10,000 $8,500 $8,500
Waterford 114,000,000 47,000 $11,600 $9,500 $9,500
W. Bimfield 67,000,000 15,000 $9,600 $7,600 $7,600
Redford 218,000,000 71,000 $12,000 $10,000 $10,000
Ypsilanti 156,000,000 26,000 $9,600 $8,600 $8,600

In summary, the Farmington Citizens League feels that our Township officials are not entitled to this increase," Hatfield stated, "and urge the voters to say 'NO' at the polls next Monday, February 15."

Requests Carpet In Bond Library

A request from Weldon Peitz, principal of Bond School, for carpeting in the library room of the Bond addition met with varied reactions on the part of School Board members at their meeting Monday, February 8. Richard Peters, board trustee, stated that almost every building project has exceeded its original budget and that "what we would like for each project" can't be considered alone, but only as a part of the overall building program.

ALSO, HE STATED that the carpeting scheduled for the new Barkshire School library has been on an experiment basis and that commitments should not be made on other installations. After discussion a motion was made and carried to ask the contractor for quotations on changing from vinyl floor covering to carpeting, for later consideration by the board.
