Farmington Meadows

BETTE WILLARD 478-3883

The halls of Ivy have once more beckoned our young to the learning of the 1965. Text the past wonderful. We have all settled down to a post-holiday quiet—almost anyway.

Renewing old friendships from Racine, Wisconsin were Diane and Doug Brown at a recent party. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Michael Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Don Gerber, and Mr. and Mrs. Stu March all former residents of Racine. Helping celebrate were Betty and Norman Raymond of Rob-nwood.

THE JAMES MAHER family of Lakeport entertained Jim's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Maher Sr. of Glenview, Illinois. Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Rivard of St. Louis hosted members, Mr. and Mrs. J. Lennane, Mr. and Mrs. E. Carbas, Mr. and Mrs. H. Oral, Mr. and Mrs. G. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. J. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. D. Easton, Mr. and Mrs. T. Pidgeon, Mr. and Mrs. P. Haas and Mr. Haas' parents.

Also entertaining neighborhood friends were Joan and Ed Bambas of Kirby. Their guest list included Orman and Nellie Bowers, Buby and Jack Rivard, Jim and Marilyn Reed, Henry and Jean Zack, Lee and Marilyn Gray and George and La Donna Black.

Several couples in the Meadows will be spending quiet evenings of bridge this month as did the Kozakars with Marion and Henry Oral with hotummy pizzas afterwards.

FORMER RESIDENTS of the Meadows Mr. and Mrs. Byron Bird visited the Orals over the holidays.

Most of the bridge and pin-collage clubs are suffering from holiday fatigue and have postponed their games until later in the month but Bridge Club No. 3 met at the home of Mary Wischmeyer for an evening of play. Bottle and Emeline Marets beat the rest of the regulars, Lee Justice, Helen Jankowski, Lu Grenier, Delores Springmeyer and Mary for first and second prize while Jean Osborne walked off with booty.

THE GIRL SCOUTS of Troop 658, bless their little hearts, presented an original and delightful talent show for their parents after which they served cookies and punch.

Kim Totman, Lesley Degnon and Joanne Wischmeyer helped Denise Greiner celebrate her ninth birthday at a slumber party. Also having a birthday hall was five-year-old Mark Brown. His little buddies, Kevin Black, Timmy and Donny Deighton, Jimmy Gilson, Johnny Adams, Johnny Lennane and Mike Bambas celebrated Dean Brown's birthday with games, galore were Scott Douglas, Jeffery Dorisch, Kevin Black and Paul Hassett. Dean was seven years old.

HAPPY BIRTHDAYS this week go to John Bezagke 6, Danny Delighton 5, Ilene Broda 1, and to Robert Gibb, Elie O'Connell, Margie Stock, Billy O'Connell, Robert Cook and Bea Hamilton. Bea, by the way, spent a couple of hectic days around Christmas when her family was unable to reach her brother who had just moved his family to Oregon and couldn't be reached by telephone; but, to the best of candidates out west, it all turned out fine though and helped make the

Fete Employees at J.L. Hudson's

Joseph E. McHugh of Farmington, a 30-year employee of the J.L. Hudson Company, is among 198 Hudson's employees with a combined 6,500 years of service who were honored at an annual Anniversary Dinner in the Downtown store Tuesday evening, January 5.

The employees have 1885 employment anniversary dates starting at 25 years and ranging in five-year intervals up to 50 years. They were greeted by Joseph L. Hudson, Jr., president and Hudson's Board of Directors at a reception in the 12th Floor Pine Rooms at 5:30 p.m.

Dinner, following the reception, was highlighted by recognition of the veteran Hudsonians including eight that total nearly four centuries of service.

OF THE 198 Hudson's employees serving in various capacities, 25 of the celebrants were from the delivery area—the greatest number ever represented from one department.

Each honored Hudsonian received a commemorative piece of jewelry of their choice, e.g., lapel pin, bracelet, tie bar or tie tuck.

The theme of this year's program, "Those Were The Years That Were," was musically acknowledged in part as Don Large and his "Singing Teens" of the University of Detroit entertained the guests with originally composed parodies about some of the celebrants.
