William Grace Students Hold Music Concert

A "standing - room - only" crowd of parents and friends gathered last Thursday evening to hear the fourth and sixth grade pupils at William Grace sing a rainbow of colorful songs.

The program opened with Regina Brown playing a violin solo, accompanied by Miss Schumacher, teacher of instrumental music, after which the band played several songs. Then the grades combined to do "I Can Sing a Rainbow" and "Spoonful of Sugar." Each grade then sang separately, using various music techniques such as harmonies, descants and rounds.

FOR ONE OF THE fifth grade numbers, Mrs. Margaret Raeside, Vocal Music Consultant, who led the songs, joined the accompanist, Mrs. Shirley Strey, for a rollicking four-hand accompaniment. The girls chorus and boys chorus each sang three numbers. For the finale, the combined grades sang "Over the Rainbow" and the tongue-twisting "Supercalifragilisticexpialidocious" from "Mary Poppins." The gym was gaily decorated with a large rainbow and colorful programs had been prepared by the students to add to the enjoyment of the concert.

At a short PTA business meeting before the concert, this membership voted to give William Grace an overhead projector and a portable projector screen. The next PTA meeting has been rescheduled for April 27 to May 4, when the program will be a talk on the new math system which Farmington has adopted.

J. Howard, J. Young Wed in Candlelight Ceremony

A candlelight ceremony at the Grace Lutheran Church, Redford, was the setting for the marriage of Jacqueline Mae Howard and John A. Young Jr. The Reverend Victor Haboth Sr. officiated at the double-ring ceremony on the evening of February 27, 1965.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Howard of Novi, and Mr. Young is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Young Sr. of Longwood, Florida.

The altar of the church was decorated with bouquets of white snapdragons and chrysanthemums, backed palms and candelabra. Mrs. Evelyn Smiley of Farmington was the organist. "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer" were sung by soloist George Woodcock of Dearborn.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional gown of white silk organza and hand-clipped chantilly lace. The sleeveless bodice was embroidered with seed pearls and lace applique and designed with a sobrina decollete. From a molded waistline, the floor-length skirt dipped to slightly longer than floor-length, and back accent was created by a traditionally tapered and long sleeve bolero jacket flowing into a chapel-length train, also of chantilly lace.

A scalloped Diadem Crown with re-embroidered alencon lace and seed pearls held her tiered veil of elbow-length silk illusion. The bride carried a bouquet of cascading white roses and stephanotis.

Dianne Howard of Novi, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She carried a bouquet of cascading pink roses and stephanotis. The bridesmaids were Carol Kappeler of Farmington, Kathleen Parley of Northville, and Karen Linsey of Arlington Heights, Illinois.

The attendants wore matching moss green gowns with cut velvet bodices and floor-length A-line skirts of peau de soie. Their headpieces were moss green satin with silk illusion veils. They carried bouquets of cascading pink roses.

Lozen D. Gerber of Farmington was best man.
