

EASTER SHOPPING

MAX GOLDMAN OF Fashion Shoes in the Downtown Farmington Shopping Center is pictured above assisting Easter shoppers in their selection of footwear. Shoes for the whole family were the order of the day for many Easter shoppers who visited the Downtown Center store last weekend.

EASTER SHOPPING sometimes means the youngsters must wait their turn as was the case above as children wait for their mother to make her purchases at Juliet's in the Downtown Farmington Center. The bench provided at Juliet's was ideal for the youngsters who waited patiently for their mother to complete her Easter shopping.

A DUAL PURPOSE was behind David Girsks' shopping trip to the Modern Men's store in the Farmington Plaza Shopping Center. Assistant Manager of the store, Jack Reeves (left), helps Girsks make a selection from the latest department in time for the young man's April 24 wedding as well as the Easter parade.

A "MERRY-GO-ROUND" keeps youngsters amused in the Ross Shoe Store in the Farmington Plaza Shopping Center both before and after they are fitted with footwear in time for the Easter parade. The young girls above decided shopping with parents can be fun as they took a spin on the miniature carousel in the Ross Shoes kiddieland department.
