

A Christmas ham is the fellow who acts up at the annual Yuletide office party.

The gift of gracious giving can't be bought in a store.

A reminder has been issued to all parents whose youngsters attend the Westbrook School that teachers are now available for conferences between the hours of 2:30 and 3:30 p.m. each school day.

Legion Benefit Breakfast Set

The Groves - Walker American Legion Post and its Auxiliary Unit will serve a benefit breakfast this Sunday morning, December 15, from 7 to 11 o'clock with gifts costing approximately $1 as the price for the breakfast.

Gifts turned in by those at the breakfast will be wrapped by members of the auxiliary at a later date and taken to the Maybury Sanitarium at Northville to be distributed for Christmas to veterans at the hospital. There are around 135 veterans hospitalized there at this time.

Farmington Legionnaires will present gifts of toilet articles, wearing apparel, cigarettes and games to about 35 of these veterans as they have in past years.

The general public is being invited to aid in this worthy cause by bringing the gifts they can, as a contribution for the breakfast. It is hoped that enough gifts can be brought in so that all 135 veterans can be provided with a brighter Christmas.

Al Capp Visits Polio Hospital

A recent guest at the Sister Kenny Polio Hospital in Farmington was Al Capp, internationally known cartoonist.

Actively supporting this year's highly successful Torch Drive in the Detroit area, Capp made a two day appearance here which included visits to the Sister Kenny Foundation Rehabilitation Center at Ferndale as well as the Kenny Hospital here.

He entertained the patients by sketching many of his world famous characters from Dopey and U.S.A.

The store was purchased recently by Harry Brenner who is now in the process of moving here to make his home. Brenner, who has been in the grocery market business since 1930, is owner of Vista Villa Farms here.

Married and the father of three children, he is a board member of the Children's Clinic in Detroit and president of the Parent-Teacher Foundation, sponsors of the Haven Farm for retarded children.

The store will be managed by Nate Brenner, Harry Brenner's brother.

Along The Creek In Woodcreek

EMOGENE DAVIS MA. 6-1407

Orchard Lake Country Club was the setting for the annual Woodcreek Farms Women's Association Christmas party Wednesday afternoon, December 4.

About 60 ladies were present, including former residents Dot Overmyer, Ruth Eymon and Cam Carnwell, also Ellen Bandfield's guests, her mother, Mrs. Harriet Pfaff, and Peggy Thorne, Helen Galpin and Thelma Anderson.

The centerpiece for each table was a little tree, painted white and hung with tiny baubles which had been fashioned into earrings by the committee as favors for the guests.

The fashion show which followed the luncheon was scheduled to be put on by Milgrim, but turned out to be a very interesting presentation of current fashions dreamed up by Barbara Reader and Helen Weigman.

The first model, Jo Schlotterbeck, appeared in a stunning cocktail dress, but from there on the show went from the sublime to the ridiculous. Eleanor Preuss displayed the newest print, a concoction made entirely of newspapers and scotch tape. Maxine Renfrew modeled a tea gown hung with tea bags topped off with a fur teacup on her head.

Marguerite Kreider's tissue dress was made up of clusters of facial tissues, and June Bieker's box coat was a cardstock Christmas tree, complete with a belt in the back and a "fur" collar. Mary McDonald raided someone's attic for her bathing suit with the "covered up" look, made of black sateen with white trim.

A duster, complete with dustpan, a fishing outfit with all the necessary paraphernalia, a gold and black and form fitting red skating outfit with black tulle flounce took care of the sports clothes.

The popular (poison) Ivy League style was portrayed in a red brick rope paper arrangement festooned with climbing ivy, with the inevitable buckles cut out of white cardboard. A sack dress (from Sacks, Fifth Avenue) surely came from a feed store, and the cocktail dress was complete with snifter and shaker.

A fitting climax to the show was Santa's helper, Mary Christmas (Mary McDonald) in a festive Christmas costume, who delighted her audience with her song "It's Beginning to Look a Lot Like Christmas", accompanied by Barbara Reader.

Works on Intersection At Ford Road, Southfield

Work on the construction of ramps, approaches and service roads for Southfield Road traffic at the Ford-Southfield Road intersection in Wayne County has now been completed, the State Highway Department disclosed this week.

Although the new grade separation, which carried Ford Road (M-153) over Southfield Road, was opened last August, service roads were necessary to carry Southfield traffic around the construction there until this time.

Handling the construction of ramps, service and temporary roads was J. J. Brighton of Farmington. The Jutson - Kelly Company of Dearborn had the contract for the grade separation.

Take in Parade

Troop 266 of Our Lady of Sorrows, under the leadership of Mrs. Dolores Romero, enjoyed a trip to Detroit on Thanksgiving to view the big annual parade there.

Transporting the girls to the parade were Mr. Ormsby and Mr. Romero.

When had men combine, the good must associate; else they will fall, one by one, unpitied sacrifice, in a contemptible struggle.
