

Normandy Hills No Match for Mary St. Mary

AUDREY ROBERTSON, GR. 4-8555

Santa Claus will be coming to visit all the good boys and girls in Normandy Hills this coming Sunday between 2 and 3 p.m. at the Clark family home.

Myra and Dick Habicht will be coming to visit all the good boys and girls in Normandy Hills this coming Sunday between 2 and 3 p.m. at the Clark family home.

The final score was 76-33 in favor of St. Mary's. The game was high point men for St. Mary's in the losing cause, 12 points.

The JV's put up a somewhat better fight but not nearly good enough to win. They lost out by a 20-point margin, 32-12.

Last night Sorrows played St. Mary's of Royal Oak.

This Thursday, the Sorrows team will travel to Redford Union High to take on their neighbors in a basketball game.

Eighteen members of the Clark family and together Sunday evening to celebrate Bob's birthday as well as those of his mother, Mrs. A. D. Clark, and Alan Clark.

Noticed how beautifully the children have decorated the pine trees all around their house with xmas lights. Might be nice if we got a contest going on those outside decorations.

Same "Pretty Face"

The new Longacre school under construction just west of Woodward Subdivision will wear the same "pretty face" as the old Covendale school as the result of action by the School Board last week. The board decided on the same brick for the Longacre school as was used at Covendale.

FALCON CHATTER

BY GEORGE EVANS

Now the question arises: Was Friday night's display by the Falcons a true indication of the type basketball we can expect from Farmington "V's" going forward?

The offense looked pretty good, however, their inability to work the ball through a tight shifting zone defense brought about the necessity for those long, inaccurate wing shots.

Although we feel the officials were a bit "whistle happy" we can't deny that the Falcons were a little too aggressive, especially after it became evident that a touch even so light as it may be, meant a foul to the referees.

The game was marred by repeated outbursts by John Shadford, Walld Lake coach. His first shaking at the Farmington scorekeepers was one of the most disgusting displays of unsportsmanlike conduct we have ever had the displeasure to witness.

We are certain that this conduct isn't to be condoned by later-Lakes conference officials.

In the event of a skid on icy pavement, always turn your front wheels in the direction that the rear end is skidding. To slow down, pump the brakes by rapidly pressing and releasing. Never apply the brakes hard when in a skid as this will lock the wheels and accelerate the skid.

Sports Figures Live in Area

In a recent story about Floyd Jaye (formerly known as Floyd Jaisewick) it was stated he was the only ex-Lion football player living in the township. It seems there are a number of athletes in this area.

Russ Thomas, former Lions tackle from 1946-1949, and scout and assistant coach until last year, is a resident of Franklin Knolls.

Another Franklin Knolls resident is Aldo Forte, the Lions line coach since 1950.

Living in Kendallwood No. 3 subdivision is Maurice (Mickey) Harris, famous baseball player, now a sales representative in the township auxiliary police.

Mickey played two years in the minors. He then spent 13 years in the majors, nine years with the Boston Red Sox, three years with the Washington Senators, and one year at Cleveland. He played in the World Series in 1946, and in both 1941 and 1946 played in the All-Star games.

Intermural Play Begins

Farmington High opened its intermural basketball season Tuesday, December 9, with boys present at the first session.

Don's Race, advisor, put the fellows on teams according to their basketball ability. This is to make the teams as balanced as possible according to race.

The league is to be made up of six teams with each of nine members on a team. If possible the season will run the length of the varsity basketball season. There may also be an All-Star game at things work out as planned.

The first game of the season was won by the Blazers over the Sages by the score of 19-17. Tex Cawley was one of the high scorers for that game with three points.

The second game between the Blazers and the Globetrotters was won by the Blazers by the score of 20-14.

The final game of the night proved to be the most exciting one on the schedule. It went into three overtimes, ending 19-17. The Blazers finally won the Warriors by a score of 47-44. Brian Sisco made 19 points.
