CORRESPONDENCE

Redford

The progressive farmers south of Redford are planning to have electric lights for their homes and expect to make arrangements with the Edison company to run a line through that section.

The second house built by Mr. Knowles on North Lahser avenue, the one painted a buff color, was sold this week to Frank Druce of Detroit. The family will move here in the spring.

Mrs. Oscar Smith, who lived a short distance north of town, died last Saturday and the funeral was held on Monday by Rev. Evans. The arrangements were in charge of Director Northrop of Redford and the body was laid to rest in Mount Hazel cemetery.

Fred Hantz was home from Lansing over Sunday and Monday, spending a good portion of his time with his brother, Charley, at his home on the Plymouth road.

The young man who was shot by the accidental discharge of his gun last week was named Louis Borowski and he lives a mile and a half south of Redford.

E. B. Wilhelm has been enjoying a visit from his brother.

Fred DeNio and H. J. Wilmarth are out in the wild and woolly west, having started Tuesday for Colorado, where they will investigate the climatic conditions with a view to improving their health.

Milton Gastrell, who was very recently taken to the sanitarium at Illinois, died there and his body was brought home by R. B. Northrop, the undertaker, Monday. The funeral was held by Rev. Evans at the home Thursday at one o'clock and the body was buried in Mt. Hazel.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Lamphere very pleasantly entertained the pleasure club at their home last Monday evening. A very delightful evening was spent with cards, the usual game of five hundred being played. Some dainty refreshments were a feature of the evening that was greatly enjoyed. Mrs. George Jenks and Dr. Holcomb captured the first prizes, while the boobies went to Mr. and Mrs. Charley Lahser.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ford of this village celebrated their golden wedding anniversary New Year's day. They are well known.

At the annual Sunday-school entertainment in the Presbyterian church on New Year's eve, a well-filled house listened to the beautiful story of "The Other Wise Man," illustrated by a splendid set of stereoscopic views. The pastor gave the lecture and Superintendent Crawford and A. M. Bosworth operated the machine. At the close the children and members were given their annual treat. A surprise was also sprung upon the pastor in the presentation of a well-filled purse from the congregation as a New Year gift of love and appreciation in recognition of his untiring services.

At the last meeting of the township board the resignation of Supervisor Geo. W. Burt was accepted so he could accept the office of superintendent of the poor, and Edwin G. Houghton was appointed to fill the vacancy until the spring election. Carl G. Shaver was appointed clerk in Mr. Houghton's place.

The appointment of Mr. Houghton to the office of supervisor is in recognition of the service he has done the township as clerk the last four years and the township is to be congratulated in the appointment.

Mr. Shear is a competent man for clerk and certainly will make good in this position.

The week of prayer is being observed in the Presbyterian church. Attorney Stephen D. Williams of Detroit is assisting the pastor in giving a series of addresses especially suited to men.
