

IT'S MY ANSWER TO THOSE WISE GUYS WHO REFUSE TO DIM THEIR CAR LIGHTS

Courtesy does call for the liver to dim his lights when another car approaches.

it's a safety habit. If you blinking their lights at you, even when you dim yours, chances are your lights are out of which. Have them checked Preliminary plans for Kendal-lwood V subdivision, south of 12 Mile and east of Farming-ton Road were reviewed by the form of the Road was somewhat con-night.

The Board was somewhat con-cerned over the fact that no land was earmarked for an ele-mentary school site. It was in-dicated that the land owner had discussed that the land owner had possible to the land owner had possible to the land owner had possible to the land owner had classed that the land owner had possible to the land owner had classed that the land classed that the land owner had classed that the land owner had classed that the land owner had been supported that the land classed that the land owner had been supported to the land own a school site felt that development may be someways off and there is a possibility that pre-liminary plans will be allered considerably, the Board made it clear that it wants at least eight acres received for a grade school site in the vicinity of 11½ Mile Road and Power. The Board instructed the administration to send a letter to the Thompson - Brown - Develoment Co. making this fact known.

SUBDIVISIONS without street outlets to all major roadways have proven a big headache for Farmington public school system officials. It has made routes to existing schools very roundabout and roquired the system to provide bus transportation for several children living well with a mile of the school but more than a mile walking distance away.
