MICHIGAN BELL
telephone lines

A TELEPHONE INSTALLER was recently working outside a woman's house. After climbing the pole, he rang her number to tell her that her telephone service would be discontinued for a few minutes.

"Just a minute," the woman answered. "There's a telephone in working order. I'd better tell him, too."

Before he started climbing could say a word, the housewife had come out to tell him that he was wanted inside on the telephone—a real example of a one-way conversation!

THE TIME: Evening
THE PLACE: A bedroom
SOUND: A telephone ringing from a distance.

"George! George, wake up! The telephone is ringing... George!" Still half asleep, the husband struggles out of bed and dashes to answer the telephone before it stops ringing...

Has this ever happened in your home? If it has, then you already know the best reason for installing a convenient, colorful bedroom extension. It will cost about a quarter a week, but it's worth lots more than that in pleasure and security. For more information about bedroom extensions, call the Business Office.

FIRE! FIRE! Volunteers everywhere drop what they're doing and rush to the scene of the emergency. Before long, the community whose volunteers arrive fastest will probably be equipped with one of Michigan Bell's Alerting and Dispatching Systems. These systems were developed by telephone company engineers at the request of volunteer fire departments all over the country. Because they use regular telephone exchange equipment to warn volunteers, these Alerting Systems are both faster and more accurate than old-fashioned sirens or fire whistles. All in all, they are a great improvement in public safety for small towns.

PARTING SHOP: The high heel must have been invented by a woman who was kissed on the forehead.

THE STEEP HILL on Power Road just north of the new Alameda elementary school has now been cut down considerably to provide a safer route for children walking to and from the school. The road has also been widened approximately eight feet. A road blockade put up by concerned mothers a short time ago prompted quick action by the Oakland County Road Department. These efforts to provide a safer walking route will be of little help, however, unless parents instruct their children to walk along the side of the road and not down the middle like these youngsters are.

The four candidates are: Judy Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bailey, 21332 25th; Francis Leon Baldwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elias Baldwin, 30209 Purlingbrook; Marie Burry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Burry, 29219 List; and Barbara Watwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Watwood, 21218 Middlebelt.

Each candidate had to meet the requirements set up by the American Field Service. The American Field Service is a private, non-profit and educational organization which promotes understanding and good will among the peoples of the world. It serves this purpose by bringing teenage students from abroad to study in American high schools and to live in American families and communities for a year. The AFS also sends American teenagers abroad to live with families and attend schools for two to five months.
