The natural gas you get at the turn of a valve has traveled hundreds of miles. Laying pipelines to carry it to you presents many engineering problems.

Your Natural Gas

Comes A Long Way

Rivers are only one of the hazards which must be overcome on the pipeline's cross country journey. Since gas is lighter than air, 30 pounds of ballast are used for each foot of 30 inch pipe in a water crossing. Corrosion is another headach engineers have minimized by coating and wrapping the pipe before it goes into the ground. Millions of dollars in equipment join with labor and know-how to keep natural gas flowing to your home or place of business. Natural gas is your dependable low-cost servant.
