MSUO Offers Adult Courses

Twenty-four non-credit courses designed especially for adult students will be offered by MSUO for the Winter Term commencing January 11, 1960. The courses include the Humanities, Business, Engineering, Liberal Arts, and Fine Arts, and Applied Skills. All are taught by the University faculty, by academically qualified persons selected from business or industrial organizations of the area.

"The emphasis in these programs is upon the subject matter content, without the restrictions of the formal credit courses," said Dr. Edmund, Director of the University's Continuing Education program. "In this way we are able to adapt the course to fit the specific educational needs of the group and use instructors who are frequently working daily in the field in which they instruct in our evening courses."

"There are no academic prerequisites for these courses and all adult residents of the Oakland-Macomb community are invited to participate in this great modern adventure of continuing education," Edmund said.

The ancient Romans honored Janus, the god of gates and doors and of beginnings and endings, on the first day of the year. Janus, for whom the month of January was named, was pictured with two faces, and looked both ahead and backward.
