

Everyone Benefits from UF; Proof Given

Everyone benefits from the service of United Foundation and this is why no citizen should fail to give generously when a volunteer Torch Drive solicitor calls at the door during the annual fund-raising project.

The following case has been cited to show that everyone can benefit from UF. Recently the child of wealthy parents was stricken with a deadly disease. Hospitalization, with the most advanced equipment and medicines, was needed. The child was taken to Children's Hospital in Detroit where he received treatment that was not available elsewhere in this area.

Although the child's parents could easily afford the high cost of hospitalization and specialized treatment that was needed, the youngster could not have received this care locally if it had not been for United Foundation Children's Hospital is supported in part by the UF and without this UF support would probably not exist.

Often people are inclined to think that only the poor and needy benefit from the services rendered by the 193 agencies which derive their support from the UF.

There are many services provided only by UF agencies. Those people who can afford to pay the costs involved are asked to do so. But, the point that must be remembered is that even the financially able could not avail themselves of many services they might have need for if it were not for UF. Without the benefit of United giving through UF, many of the valuable services agencies we now have could never have come into existence.

A number of Farmington City and Township residents have received direct benefits from United Foundation services and all have benefited indirectly. Last year UF agencies helped 3,644 locally in the area of group work and recreation; 336 local patients got health service and 162 families got family service. Child care service was afforded to 31 and 34 received other UF services.

"Community Information Service" is one service which UF provides which many do not realize exists. Anyone with a problem wishing to know which if any of the UF agencies might be able to help need only call 833-3430.

Remember, everyone can benefit from United Foundation. Give generously when you are called on.

Gets New Post At Det. Edison

Appointment of William L. Cogsdill, 35724 Bernadine, Farmington Township, as a supervising engineer for Detroit Edison's electrical system department has been announced.

Mr. Cogsdill, who was born in Mitchell, South Dakota, was graduated from high school in Detroit and later earned an electrical engineering degree at Michigan State University.

He started with Edison in 1938 in the property department and the following year was assigned as a construction department engineer.

In 1959 he was loaned to Wayne State University in Detroit where he served as an instructor.

During World War II he served with the United States Navy, first as a radar instructor at Quakertown and later as a project engineer for the Bureau of Ships in Washington, D.C.

Following the war he returned to Detroit Edison's electrical system department.

He is treasurer of the Village of Quakertown in Farmington Township and is a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

Mr. Cogsdill and his wife, Lillian, have a daughter, Joan, 19, and two sons — James, 17, and Lawrence, 13.

Leaf burning on streets in residential neighborhoods is not only harmful to road surfaces but often creates a rather serious smoke nuisance problem. The establishment of a central burning location with pickups of the leaves by the city would be at least a partial solution to both these problems.

Pair Promoted by Am Standard

Appointment of James W. Hosler as vice president, marketing has been announced by Mr. A. O. Andrews, president of the Industrial Division of American Standard.

Mr. Hosler succeeds John F. Tobin, who remains with the Division in a consulting capacity until his retirement at the end of this year.

Mr. Hosler joined American Standard in 1947 and has served as general sales manager of the division since 1959. He is succeeded by Theodore L. Harriman, formerly manager of the Indianapolis sales office.

Mr. Hosler resides at 26241 Dundalk Lake, Farmington and Mr. Harriman plans to settle in Farmington, the community in which he lived prior to his Indianapolis appointment last year.

"Education Meets the Challenge of Change" will be this year's theme for the 1962 programs and projects.

The American Education Week is sponsored by the National Education Association, American Legion, National Congress of Parents and Teachers, and U.S. Office of Education.

The basic ABEW purpose is to make every American aware of his important role in education in a democracy, and to help him realize that good schools and colleges are, to a large degree, his personal responsibility.

"In this age of great technological and sociological changes, many aspects of American education are changing to meet the new challenges," Holton said. "However, most Americans want their schools and colleges to educate all children to the limit of their talents and abilities. All citizens must be encouraged to do their utmost. The future of our country and that of our nation depend upon their doing so."

Thought must be made better, and human life more fruitful, for the divine energy that moves it onward and upward.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

State Voters Lack Interest In Ballot Proposals & Issues

MOST VOTERS ARE relatively familiar with the top names which will appear on the Nov. 6 ballot in Michigan.

Lesser candidates, those below the office of Governor, often get lost in the shuffle, however. Ballot proposals take an even greater loss when voting time arrives.

Usually Michigan voters are diligent about voting for Governor. Most people also vote for the candidates for Administration Board posts. These include the Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Attorney General, Treasurer, and Auditor General.

A great drop occurs in the count, however, on votes for Supreme Court justices. These candidates are nominated at major party conventions in August.

Some voters are not even aware of the proposed new Constitution. In a voting machine, the candidate names are far to the right of the machine; in paper precincts they are listed on a separate ballot.

The same thing occurs when a Constitutional amendment or other ballot question is voted further to the right on a machine, and on still another separate ballot in paper districts.

The year, even more of a drop than normal is anticipated when votes are counted on a proposed Constitutional amendment. (Not to be confused with the proposed new Constitution to be voted on next April.)

A proposal to allow a general revision of the state laws was approved for ballot placement by the Legislature since then, however, its presence has gone almost unnoticed.

Because the proposal is of a rather technical nature, very few people are expected to take the time to familiarize themselves with its effect and vote on it.

The Constitutional change would allow the Legislature to make for a general revision of the statutes.

Presently revision is prohibited. The Governor appoints a commission to study and puts the laws together each year. This commission is prohibited by the Constitution, however, from making any corrections which might slip through during passage, such as misspellings.

Proponents of the amendment in both parties said it would greatly improve legislative effectiveness. Rep. Joseph A. Gill, Jr., D-Detroit, and Rep. Henry M. Hagan, Jr., R-Birmingham, sponsored it.

They substituted a simple 24-word sentence for the 80-plus word section now in effect which states how the revision is to be made. It would provide that "the Legislature shall provide by law for the general revision of the statutes at such time and in such manner as it shall determine."

ONE OF THE FIRST concrete steps toward providing a youth camp program in Michigan is under way.

The State Department of Social Welfare recently purchased a site at Pup Lake, south of Houghton Lake in Roscommon County, for the establishment of a youth camp for juvenile delinquents in Michigan.

The three buildings at the Pup Lake facility will provide a self-contained operational unit under the joint jurisdiction of the Social Welfare Department, the Conservation Department, and the Department of Public Instruction.

To Join Forces To Fight Fraud

Noting the resolution of the National Association of Credit Management requesting intensified action against credit fraud, attorneys, Attorney General Frank J. Kelley is instructing his Consumer Protection Division to meet with representatives of the credit men's group to develop a program which will offer maximum protection to Michigan's consumers, to legitimate business, and to the credit management members who make commercial credit available to our economy.

The National Association of Credit Management, organized in 1896, is a membership organization representing credit executives in more than 35,000 manufacturing, wholesaling and financial concerns throughout the United States.

"One of the principal reasons for the organization of the Association was the need for legitimate business to join ranks against commercial criminals. In fighting credit fraud since its inception, the Association has spent much time and effort and has expended several millions of dollars for the collection of evidence against frauds and checks, and the efforts of your office in prosecuting such offenders."

"We are convinced that conditions today require an even greater effort than in the past, if honest commerce is to avoid damaging inroads by clever criminals."

Assets in the City's employment retirement system fund have now been built up over the $100,000 mark, according to a report made to the City Council Monday night.

Meeting earlier this month the retirement system board reviewed an audited report on its financial condition as of June 30 and also took action with regard to the investment of money which has been accumulated from employee and city-large contributions during the past year.

A complete report on the proceedings of the retirement board's meeting was made to the Council.

Swainson said he hoped the center would stimulate interest among Michigan businesses to bid for defense contracts, and thereby broaden the scope of federal work funds being returned to state producers.

"From the use of this center, I hope, will come many more defense contracts to Michigan with the benefit of more jobs for our state," he said.

Police Told of Twp. Break-Ins

Farmington Township Police received two reports of breaking and entering this week, one from a resident and the other from a businessman.

Joseph Chapman told police his service station, Chapman's Sunoco Service, 36020 Grand River, showed evidence on the night of October 16 that someone had attempted to gain entry into the building.

CHAPMAN TOLD Farmington Township Police a window and a door at the rear of his business bore marks indicating some unknown person or persons had tried to force their way into the station but were unsuccessful in the attempt.

A report that $150 worth of tools and a gun valued at $50 were taken from an out building at 30380 Orchard Lake Road was filed with Farmington Township Police on Thursday, October 11.

We've got a "HOLIDAY!" Everybody get on the job!

Strange as it seems, "holidays" are not vacation days, but mean hard work for the pipeliners.

The Natural Gas pipelines, a huge network of strong, seamless, steel tubes covering thousands of miles, are under constant surveillance. When breaks or flaws are found to exist through inspection by trained men and electronic equipment, they are called "holidays."

In Outstate Michigan, Consumers Power Company has over 7,000 miles of Natural Gas pipeline to keep under constant surveillance. Continuous inspection and immediate communication to emergency crews by these trouble shooters keep this call, "Holiday," to a minimum.

A Solution to the Leaf Burning Problem

At its regular meeting last week the City Council ordered a crackdown on careless outdoor burning and particularly the burning of leaves on improved streets in the City.

Since there is an ordinance on the City of Farmington's books which says such burning is illegal then enforcement should be carried out. But it does present a rather serious problem for a lot of people since they really have no other way of disposing of the great piles of leaves that they rake up, other than to burn them.

Some homeowners have a small garden patch or other cleared area on their property not planted with grass, shrubbery or flowers where such burning can be done, but most do not. Outside burners for the disposal of household papers and other burnable waste material are usually very small and not suitable for leaf burning.

One solution might be for the homeowner to do the burning in his own driveway. But a still better one would be for the city to establish a central location for leaf burning and set up a program to pick up leaves at the curb in various sections of the city on specific days. Those who didn't want to or couldn't have their leaves out at the curb on the day or days specified for pickups in their neighborhood would have the option of making their own arrangements to get their leaves hauled to the central burning location.

It is too late this year to do much in the way of establishing such a program but it might well be kept in mind to be planned for in advance before another fall season rolls around.

Leaf burning on streets in residential neighborhoods is not only harmful to road surfaces but often creates a rather serious smoke nuisance problem. The establishment of a central burning location with pickups of the leaves by the city would be at least a partial solution to both these problems.

Education Wk. Purpose Told By Legion Post

"The concept of free public education for all the children of all the people is fundamental to our way of life," according to Leonard Holton, chairman of the Groves-Walker Post 346 American Education Week committee.

"Anyone who advocates that our schools and colleges put their entire emphasis on the exceptionally talented, at the expense of the average student, should be reminded of the concept that has helped build our nation to its present greatness," he continued.

HOLTON, POST COMMANDER of the American Legion Post, made these comments in announcing that the 42nd annual American Education Week will be observed in Farmington November 14-17.

"Education Meets the Challenge of Change" will be this year's theme for the 1962 programs and projects.

The American Education Week is sponsored by the National Education Association, American Legion, National Congress of Parents and Teachers, and U.S. Office of Education.

Two Re-Zoning Hearings Oct. 25

Two Township zoning change hearings are scheduled for the evening of Tuesday, October 23, before the Zoning Board.

One will be on the proposed rezoning of a 16 1/2 acre parcel on the west side of Orchard Lake Road just south of 14 Mile Road. The owners propose to build a theatre-in-the-round and a large motel and to use this location as well as necessary parking area to accommodate these businesses.

The other will be on the rezoning of a 16 1/2 acre parcel on the west side of Orchard Lake Road north of 14 Mile Road. The owners propose to build a theatre-in-the-round and a large motel and to use this location as well as necessary parking area to accommodate these businesses.

The rezoning of the 16 1/2 acre parcel on the west side of Orchard Lake Road north of 14 Mile Road is being requested by the owners of the property, who are also the owners of the 16 1/2 acre parcel on the west side of Orchard Lake Road just south of 14 Mile Road.
