

Wandering Thru Woodbine

BETTY MILLER GR. 4-5897

Last Saturday morning on the way to participate in the church affair, Diane Hall and six other children were involved in an accident. Diane escaped with several bruises and four stitches in her head. Because the seven children were confined to close quarters in the car it cushioned the impact, otherwise several would probably have sustained severe injuries. We count our small blessings such as they are and are glad Diane will be up and around, soon.

THE ELI HILLIARDS and children journeyed to Kingston, Ontario with the Harold Chell family a week ago last Sunday to witness the arrival of the geese, at Jack Miner's Sanctuary. The geese were en route from North Bay to their southern headquarters and stop annually at this place for one last meal. Mary Chellman said it is something to behold young and old alike as the geese fly in their precise formations and honk their forth-coming approach to this haven. Each year Mr. Miner receives several hundred of these beauties.

Last Saturday evening several Woodbine couples held their annual progressive dinner party. A few years back some of the men who worked on the farm decided to get together and celebrate by way of having a dinner party. It met with such success it has continued as an annual fall affair.

Cocktails and canapes were served at the Robert Brosch's. The Van Wicklins hosted the main course, which consisted of a buffet style dinner featuring Swedish meat balls and corned beef, jascious molded salads, two kinds of potato salad and several vegetables and rolls. Proceeding from the Van Wicklins, the Frank Reeders served desert and coffee and the hosted at dancing later on.

Those enjoying a wonderful evening of food, friendship and partying were the Donovans, Connors, Starons, Vallieres, Evangelistas and Radkes. June and Bob Ely were missed at this annual gathering due to the death of Bob's father, Mr. Charles Ely, Friday evening. We extend to June and Bob our deepest sympathy.

Gil and Bonnie Musselman and son, Donnie, along with Larry Bomcher and his wife left October 27 to attend the wedding of Bonnie's mother, Susan Bomcher, to Mr. Henry Vegnux in Rudyard, Michigan. They returned home late Saturday evening after a wonderful time and trip.

Book Club Now In Third Year

The Briar Hill Book Club has been in existence for three years and its membership is growing. Last year the Club purchased 15 books for distribution among its membership and then in June, these books were donated to the Farmington Library.

Recently they shipped 30 pounds of books to a parachute battalion stationed in a desolate area near Iran.

THEIR FUTURE plans call for donating some reference material to the Farmington Library.

At the meetings reviews are given by members or guests, a Christmas demonstration by Consumers Power is to be sponsored by the group and outcries made to dramatic productions.

Past meetings have included a review of William Faulkner's writings, a talk about the Rare Books Department of the University of Michigan and also sponsored for the community was a demonstration of Christmas decorations.
