Caution.

One day a very nervous, timid-look, lag woman, accompanied by a robust farour, apeared on the platform of a little railway at a remote country town. For a time she'devoted her attention to the time table, but she did not find there the information absoupt, and she sleeped up to the station master as he came out of the office.

"Will you please-tell me if the three-frient train has gone yet?" she asked, in apparent concern.
"Yea, shout twenty minutes ago," he replied.

known as George, says a correspondent.

Mrs. Martin Littleton's active campaign for the recovery of Monticello does not touch directly the question. "What shall we do with our presidents?" but it suggests inquiry into what we have done with them after they have the substantial that the nation has done very little in their honor—in most cases it has not provided for their sepulcher or any, adequate monuments to their memory.

The former presidents are buried in all sorts of odd places—in country churchyards, in city cemetries, in a vaulte-of massive mesonry, in leaden caskets and in plain coffins, after the manner of the plain people from whom they sprang—these imperious Caesars, so to say, "dead and turned to clay," who "might stop a hole to clay, "who "might stop a hole to clay," who "might stop a hole to clay," who "might stop a hole to clay, "who "might stop a hole to clay," who might stop a hole to clay, "who is might stop a hole to clay, "who is might stop a hole to clay," who is might stop a hole to clay, "who is might stop a hole to clay, "who is might stop a hole to clay," who is might stop a hole to clay, "who is might stop a hole to leave the more of the might shall be more of the more of the might shall be a more of sefferent for a national shrine. Woman Is As Old As She Looks

No woman wants to look add. Many in their effort to look youthful resort to the "beauty doctor," prescriptions. Their mistake is that they visit the wrong department in the drug store.

Beauty depends upon health.

Worry, sleepless nights, headaches, pains, dis-orders, irregularities and weaknesses of a distinctly feminine character in a short time bring the dull eye, the "crow's feet," the haggard look, drooping shoulders, and the faltering step.

To retain the appearance of youth you must retain health. Instead of lotions, powders and paints, ask your druggist for
