New Baltimore met and defeated ven the supposed invincible Mc-Millan Highs of Detroit, and the fact that they strongly insist that Farmington gave them their hardest battle speaks well for the home

A prophet is without honor in his own country. The same is true of a town. The inhabitants, the natives, lack faith and do not grasp the opportunities that outsiders see at a glance and quickly pick up.

This is true in Redford where property has been moving so rapidly during the past few months. Non-residents are buying and reaping a big profit on property, while a big majority of residents sit idly by and see it grow. One lady, well known in Farmington, has refused $500 for a lot that she pur chased in November for $275 Others are doing as well, while only a few of the home people were cute enough to take hold of chances when they were offered.

unless Farmington people are different they will do the same thing and afterwards will tell their friends what they might have done. Farmington is bound to grow and grow fast and property increase in value.
