Merle C. Conley of 23456 Bonnell Hill Road, Farmington, a general staff supervisor with the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, has been promoted to assume a position with AT and T in New York City.

Conley will join a new product analysis group in the marketing department of AT and T, parent firm of Michigan Bell.

HE STARTED his telephone career in 1940 as a frameman in Detroit and held several plant jobs before being transferred to the plant engineering group in 1946. He later was a commercial engineer.

Conley, who studied engineering at Wayne State University, the University of Chicago, and Northwestern University, was elected an engineering professor at Wayne State in 1948. He later was named division commercial engineer and general superintendent equipment engineer before being appointed to his present position in 1960 in the revenue department.

"He is a member of the Orchard Methodist Church in Farmington and is active in the Masonic Lodge in Livonia."

Conley and his wife, Barbara, have a daughter, Cheryl Lynn, who is a sophomore at Central Michigan University, and a son, Douglas Merle, 16.

Dropout Comm.

The report was made by Mrs. Schwartz on contacts made with the School Holding Public Committee of the Dept. of Public Instruction relative to services it might render to the local dropout committee. The attitude of the department of public instruction committee head was that the local committee could have gathered great deal more statistical facts on the local dropout situation and other data before any help could be given, Mrs. Schwartz said.

IT WAS AGREED by the committee, in view of this, that while dropout study work should be continued, more immediate emphasis should be put on getting expanded vocational training programs in the school system.

Summarizing activities completed as of that date and laying plans for the renewing of activities in the fall, committee members agreed that six things should be done. They were:

1. Finish up the follow-up study on one class which had been started to better determine what fields and jobs most students seem to be going into.
2. Put more emphasis on school program changes to provide students not going on to college better training in specific skills.
3. Work for the establishment of a committee of parents, teachers and community leaders who can be helpful in providing young men and women with training needed to enter the work world.
4. School counselors should begin gathering necessary data to get a better picture of the seriousness of the dropout problem locally.
5. That consideration be given to making a recommendation to the Board of Education that a co-ordinator of dropouts, perhaps on a part-time basis, develop a work-study training program in the school system.
6. That greater publicity be given to the work of the dropout study committee is striving to do.

The first dropout study committee meeting for the current school year was held on Tuesday night of this week. Others will likely be held monthly throughout the school year. Anyone interested in working on this special committee is asked to contact the Board of Education or any of the committee members for more details.

Get Shuffle on Dance Permit.

Official action was taken by the City Council Monday night voting in favor of the granting of a dance permit to the Gay Way Bar on the north side of Grand River Ave. in downtown Farmington.

A city councilman had voiced unofficial approval for the permit before taking official action.

The owners of the bar made their formal request to the city commission but were advised that no action would be taken "on" until official City Council approval was received.

The lack of parking which prevented the bar from being called to the attention of the Council but councilmen were of the opinion that they would not be ground for voting against granting the permit.

Woodbine Sub. News

Beautiful weather finally blessed an annual Woodbine Association picnic last Sunday. A wonderful crowd turned out to enjoy a position of games for young and not so young alike, picnic lunches and sippling various beverages while conversing with many friends, getting back into the pattern of the coming fall season.

The children's games went off without a hitch due to the cooperation of the committee members and all the boys and girls had their fill of pop, candy and balloons. The Zerlos won the egg toss and I understand that one of the Zerlos' was unfortunate who ended up with a splattering of egg all over her. The Hayleys won the drawing contest prize. Though not turned to a good round baseball game with the help of new players, Mr. and Mrs. Craggs.

Teaching Adult Ed. Course at Wayne State

A course in Patents, Trademarks, and Copyrights will be taught this semester by Bernard J. Cantor at Wayne State University in the Adult Education Division.

Designed for engineers, businessmen and inventors, this non-credit course includes preparing inventions, licensing patent rights, and the use of patents in research.

Registration is taking place at the Michigan Building, 2000 Woodward, Detroit, or can be arranged by mail by phoning 333-1400, extension 371.

Mrs. Cantor, a patent attorney with the firm of Cullen, Sloan, and Cantor of Detroit, has been teaching at Wayne State University for approximately seven years. He has published a number of articles which have appeared in "The Michigan State Bar Journal" and the "Journal of the American Bar Association."

A graduate of Cornell University in mechanical engineering, Cantor received his Juris Doctor degree from George Washington University School of Law. He served as patent examiner in the United States Patent Office from 1949 to 1952.

He is currently the president of the Holly Hill Farm Association and lives on Highmeadow Road, Farmington. He is currently the president of the Holly Hill Farm Association and lives on Highmeadow Road, Farmington.

For these reasons, the Council had decided at its last meeting to delay a go-ahead on the drive at this time and reconsider it in the spring of 1954.

The Council instructed the city manager to notify Burton & Share, Inc. officials, that plans for the drive were not abandoned, but only delayed temporarily because of the unexpected circumstances that developed.

Welcome Fifth Frosh Class At Oakland U.

Oakland University welcomed its fifth freshman class with a flourish.

Classes began this month at Oakland for approximately 600 new students and 800 upperclassmen, with a schedule of special events for new students on campus. The program was planned to help them feel at home.

A HOOTENANNY attracted a large crowd of students to the Gold Room of Oakland Center. Warm parties, dances, cookouts, movies, open house in residence halls, and a job fair were intermingled with the business of testing, freshman convocation and registration.

Students and their parents were greeted at the campus entrance by upperclassmen who directed traffic and distributed programs.

Many new friendships began as resident advisers showed students to their rooms and introduced them to their roommates.

A RECEPTION for the parents was held in the Oakland Center lounge where Chancellor R. V. Warner told them that in addition to being the largest class, it is the best class in academic quality in the history of the institution.

Chancellor Warner said it is the responsibility of the parents and the institution to give the students the best undergraduate education and additional experience in eight semesters.

The year-round program, in which a student can graduate in two years, is being tested in operation at Oakland for two years for freshmen and sophomores, and will include juniors and seniors this year.

More than 500 persons are expected to attend the conference.
