ALVIRA DALEY

A not too well attended general meeting of the Forest Park Home Owners Association was held on Monday evening, November 4, at Boys Republic Auditorium. A Board of Directors meeting preceded the General Meeting and a quorum being present, they voted on and changed the voting date for members from November 18 to the first week in December.

The General meeting was concerned, on the most part, with submitting names for nominations of officers in the coming November 18 is the deadline for entering names to appear on the ballot at the next election so if you have any to submit, please call Jerry Weiss, Chairman of the election committee, at GR. 6-3233.

Following is the list of candidates as of this date:

(AREA DIRECTORS) Inkster Road, Charles Murray; Nine Mile Road, Jack Hampton; W. Brandon, Ken Hall; Doreen, Ron Bone and M. Freeman; S. Brandon, Angie Oliveri and L. Shapiro; Malden, S. Negoshian and K. Perrin; N. Ontaga, Art Swire and N. Kennedy; S. Ontaga, Chet Hoffman; Leyte, Joe Zuchowski; Tredwell, Steve

New Jewelry Store Opens

Sidney Cohen was practically born into the jewelry business. His father opened a retail jewelry store in Detroit in 1920, and it wasn't long before Sidney was "helping out."

In 1942, when his father became ill, Sid took over the running of the business full time. When his father died, Sid decided to move on to a shopping center, and after many weeks of looking, decided on the Downtown Farmington Center.

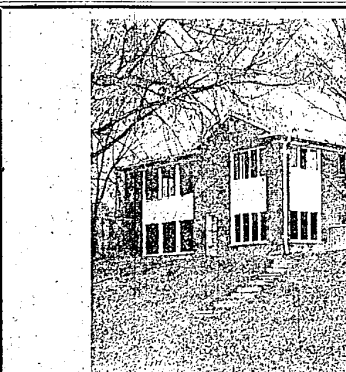

The decor of the shop was planned by his wife who felt that a colonial motif would best complement the colonial styling of the center and also provide a warm and gracious atmosphere for shoppers.

MARK WEINBERG, jewelry consultant, has been in the jewelry field since 1923, with Sid since 1948. With her fine sense of style she can design a masterpiece out of an old hand-me-down.

Sid feels that it is not necessary to spend a fortune to acquire fine jewelry. With proper guidance one can build an elegant jewelry wardrobe without paying a king's ransom, that a colonial motif would best complement the colonial styling of the center and also provide a warm and gracious atmosphere for shoppers.

SIDNEY COHEN has opened a jewelry store in the Downtown Farmington Center and this week is holding a grand opening celebration for shoppers. Mr. Cohen is pictured above behind one of the display counters in his Downtown Center store. The store is located in the east bank stores, near the corner of Grand River Avenue and Grave Street.

STUDENTS AT HIGHMEADOW Elementary School were provided with an opportunity to view the special library book fair display last week which is designed to aid them in selecting appropriate reading material. The youngsters above are pictured circulating around the book exhibit and browsing the offerings at the book fair.

Book Fair Held at Highmeadow

Books on exhibit, 600 of them, are on display in the attractive new Highmeadow School, Farmington school children are participating in fun trips to see the display of 1963 books. In addition, the elementary library staff is presenting programs, introducing authors, illustrators and discussing the new books on various subjects and grade levels.

DURING THIS week 1,500 pupils and their teachers are enjoying the inspection of the books, provided for us by publishers and through the auspices of the Oakland County Library, Teachers and committee groups, as well as parents have been viewing the exhibit after school and suggesting titles for our school libraries.

Tuesday afternoon the Audio-Visual Committee in members (one teacher from each building) and the Teacher Librarians from the elementary schools met at Highmeadow School to watch a film "Of Ghosts and Gossamers" about the inspection of the books on children. This group also spent some time surveying the book exhibit.

Republican Women To Meet on Nov. 21

The monthly meeting of the Republican Women's Organization of Farmington will be held next Thursday, Nov. 21, at 12:30 p.m. in the hospitality room at the First Farmington Savings & Loan building on Orchard Lake Road across from the Farmington Plaza Shopping Center.

A film, "The Welfare State" starring Ronald Reagan will be presented by the discussion leader.

All Republican women in the area are cordially invited to attend.
