

"All cotton knits may shrink a little," says Bernetta Kahabka, clothing specialist at Michigan State University. "A highest quality T-shirt may shrink as much as five per cent, but it will shrink evenly."

"Some retailers," she continues, "frankly recommend clothes of knitted fabrics one size larger especially if you plan to dry them in a tumbler dryer."

News From Briar Hill

JAN PATTERSON 626-6283
LOIS HOLMES 626-9060

Thank you Santa Claus for visiting us this year. From comments heard here and there, this venture was a huge success. Santa toured Briar Hill in a convertible driven by Stan Steiner. He tossed candy to the waiting children and then sat at the pump house, where a long line of children got a chance to greet him and receive a present. "Santa at Briar Hill" will be a remembered thrill for our tots and we hope he will make our sub-regular stop on his Christmas trip every year.

This event was sponsored by the Briar Hill Association and arrangements were made and carried out by Harold Holmes, Assn. Social Chairman. He was assisted by Zeke Copp, who,

WELCOME TO NEW neighbors. Dick and Betty Marvin, who became residents on Dec. 1. They moved into the home formerly owned by Snel and Mary Hedges on Beacottree. The Marvins have four children - twins, Judy and Janice, 12 years old, Linda, 5 and Jimmy, 4. Dick works as a designer in the engineering department of Ford Motor Co. in Dearborn.

The twins are in the seventh grade at Dunclell and Linda is in kindergarten at Alameda. Betty enjoys sewing and would like to join the Women's Morning Bowling League. Dick, who also enjoys bowling, likes to play golf when he gets the opportunity. Although the Marvins came from Dearborn Township, they are originally Detroiters. We all hope that the Marvin family will enjoy their new home in Briar Hill.

Friday night, Dec. 20, at Marge and Bob Scott's home, Kaye Britton was the happy recipient of birthday wishes from some of her neighbors. Those who gathered together were the Scotts, Jim and El Moreen, Flo and Bill Nauman and, of course, Kaye's husband George.

GERALDINE LUPIA, who was 33 on Dec. 19, and her dear friend, Carolyn Hegeman of Springfield Subdivision, celebrated Geraldine's birthday from Friday, Dec. 20, until Monday, Dec. 23. Geraldine originally planned a slumber weekend with a number of friends but, as so many were down with colds, it had to be canceled. The girls bowed, ate lunch and dinner out and managed to have a ball for quite a long weekend.

Maureen Lupia, who became 18 on Dec. 27, celebrated with friends at a dinner at Topkapis and a show. Many happy returns, girl!

BOB YOUNG spent Christmas with his wife, Hazel, and his daughter, Eleanor Ann and her family, in Kokomo, Ind. Hazel had been with her daughter for two weeks when Bob arrived for the winter break to Farmington when he returned on the 26th.

The holiday week was especially busy for the Harlins of Northwick. Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Boulware, Joyce's parents, spent Christmas Eve and day at home. Two uncles and a grandmother came to help deliver a big turkey. Then on Dec. 29, son Mark joined the relatives at the home where he celebrated his birthday.

Lucy and Dick Andridge had all the family home for Christmas. Lucy's mother, Mrs. Walter Kueger, came from Lansing. Son, Philip, and his wife, Mary, came from Bradenton, New Jersey. Another son, Doug, and his family also came from Lansing. Young Kenneth, Doug's son, hung his stocking alongside of Carla's to await Santa. On Christmas Day they enjoyed their presents and had a fine party ham for dinner. Lucy had quite a time finding sleeping accommodations for the who's who, some were in beds, others on couches and the "lovers" in the sleeping bags.

THE HOLIDAYS WERE gay and festive for Eloise and Jim Marzen because El's mother, Mrs. Carlson and her brother visited for the week. During this past weekend El and Jim went to Muskegon to El's high school class reunion. The Carlsons stayed over to take care of the Moreen children.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lattenstein, parents of Kitty Jones, enjoyed Christmas dinner with Kitty, Hank and Betty Shirley and Doug O'Neill had their families from Muskegon, with them for the holiday.

Lois, Herk and Kathy Holmes spent part of the Christmas week on vacation in the Chicago area. They visited Herk's family in Oak Lawn, Ill., and managed to see friends in their former home town of Lombard, Ill. Fran, Zeke, Hub and Mark Copp visited Fran's mom, Mrs. Frances Wilcox, sister, Mrs. Edith Helmer and grand aunt, Edith Helmer in Grand Rapids for the holidays. Zeke's mother, Mrs. Viola Copp, accompanied them.

and Norm Fleming, Christmased with Sue's mother, Mrs. Alvin Jones, and grandmother, Mrs. Mary A. Anderson, who is 94 years old, in Niles, Ohio.

Members of the Den who were able to attend were Greg Adams, Mike Colombatto, Kevin Emmett, Doug McMath, Mike Moreen and David Nauman. The boys were driven to the Broadcast House by the Mothers, Marge McMath and Betty Emmett.
