Celebrate PTA Founder's Day

Founder's Day is an important day—a celebration of the past and a dedication to the future.

It commemorates the day, February 17, 1897, on which a great imaginative idea took on the reality of a nation-wide movement destined to change the lives of millions of children. It was the founding of the P.T.A., The Parents and Teachers Association, the idea that parents can become better parents by learning more about children's needs and about family relationships. It was, and is, the idea that a child's education progresses better when his parents and teachers know each other personally and plan together.
