Old Homestead

JOYCE ROSS 476-5161

HAVING INTENDED to start writing Old Homestead's column next week, I am rushing toward the deadline. I will add to what Mary Checketts has already written. This invitation is for March 1, which is before the next Enterprise publication.

Ruth Short on 11 Mile Rd. reports a surprising experience. Gary called her to the window and walking down their drive, way were 4 deer. They weren't in any hurry, just ambling along, must be they know hunting isn't allowed. They didn't have horns.

Northis on Quakertown Lane saw deer in their yard in the past.

It would be nice to be able to say we live in the wilds, but I suppose we need more than just two instances.

I have run out of pressing news so will get back to work. Our column will be interesting for the majority if everyone participates. See you next week.

Mrs. George MacArthur of Shadyside Ave. is with her daughter in Pontiac for a few days. At Pontiac General Hospital, Mr. MacArthur underwent minor surgery this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Cook of Lake Sherwood, Milford, announced the engagement of their daughter, Michele, to Russ D. Hoffmeyer of Farmington, at a gala New Year's Eve party in Pompano Beach, Florida. Both are graduates of Farmington High School. The bride-elect is presently employed at Henry Ford Hospital after attending Henry Ford College. No wedding date has been set.

Prepare List Of Campsites

A list of over 1,500 overnight campsites that are restricted to youth groups, especially for Boy Scout troops and Explorer posts has just been published by the Boy Scouts of America as a part of its national "Campways B.S.A." program. Charles E. Adams, chairman of the Detroit Area Council Camping Committee, announces.

"The campways atlas will be helpful to all camping enthusiasts," Adams said, "since it includes city, county, state, and postal, and opportunity to make national campsites as well as advance reservations."

QUALIFICATIONS set up by the Boy Scouts of America for sites to be in the official listing are that the site be adequate for an average size traveling group of 24 to 30 persons camping in two-boy tents, adjoining parking facilities, ranger supervision, cooking facilities, picnic tables, adequate water supply, sanitary facilities, rubbish disposal, and opportunity to make national campsites as well as advance reservations.

Urges More Use Of PTA-Geared Publications

Stating that many P.T.A. locals are unnecessarily handicapped with dull meetings, misinterpretations of policies and practices and financial troubles, Mrs. Henry Merdler of Saginaw, encourages local officers to take advantage of the many publications available from the Michigan and National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

"Don't just order these publications, use them," Mrs. Merdler suggests. She urges local presidents to see that copies of pertinent publications are available for all officers, chairmen, teachers and members.

GIVING A SPECIFIC example, Mrs. Merdler points out that a new publication, "Keeping Children Healthy," provides a complete guide to P.T.A. programs for continuous health supervision from birth through the high school.

Another new publication cited is "Children are a Growing Concern," which is a leaflet announcing the P.T.A. Magazine's 1963-64 study discussion program. "This will help much in planning parent and family life throughout the entire year," Mrs. Merdler points out.
