Booklet Out On Decorating

An imaginative new idea booklet has been prepared to help decor-conscious homeowners create luxurious and dramatic dimensional effects in home interiors with versatile grillework paneling.

The illustrated booklet presents many decorative and practical uses for sculptured Panelite hardboard grillework through pictures of exquisite room settings showing grillework in room dividers, folding screens, bi-fold doors and many other furnishings and built-ins. Detailed sketches suggest a host of other decorating ideas such as grillework ceilings, furniture and cabinet grilles, window treatments, radiator and air-conditioner covers, window shutters, porch enclosures and grillework fencing for outdoors.

The interesting booklet, "1001 Decorator Uses," is available free. Write the American Home Improvement Institute, 60 East 42nd Street, New York, New York 10017.

Turn Your Yard Into an Enjoyable Living Area

BY L. LeGROS

Let's stop a minute and "Think." What is the purpose you would like to achieve from your grounds?

Home landscaping is the art of using outdoor space with imagination. With a little knowledge and thought you can learn to plan your own garden and turn your yard into an enjoyable living area, plus that certain extra something that will make your friends remark "It's beautiful."

Today's gardens are planned to be more lived in than to be just looked at. As a reward for your money and work you deserve the best. You can have more than just a collection of plants.

Among the many rewards you can reap from good garden design are increased convenience, privacy, and beauty. Kitchen is planned to save steps and avoid wasted motion, so can landscape planning make things easy? A little more thought can provide a yard and garden that will be convenient for all.

HERE ARE a few things to think about:

1. Does your home have a convenient and inviting approach?
2. Is it easy to drive up to either front or rear entrance?
3. If you have a small lot, could screening provide more privacy for outdoor living?
4. Does your home set unpretentiously against the summer sun or nestled among well placed trees?
5. Do you have a well located terrace, within easy access of the house?
6. Is there a children's play area conveniently located for supervision?
7. With our busy lives today, we should stop and think of what materials to use such as, paved areas, raised flower beds, ground covers, and things that will make for easy maintenance.

It is up to you to decide whether or not to seek professional help in the planning of your grounds. Before you decide, you should be aware of what a trained Landscape Architect can do to assure you of success instead of repeated redoing of things that you have tried to do on your own.

Use Broken Concrete To Make a Patio

Love to have a flagstone walk or patio, but find it would be a bit too expensive?

Check local builders and building wrecking firms, what you may find are concrete chunks that were once a floor or retaining wall.

If they are of different texture and color, all the better. Laid in an informal pattern, the effect will be charming.

Tip on Cleaning Up

Jays, furniture and cook-out equipment can present big cleaning jobs as come spring. Here's an easy way to get everything shiny in a hurry.

Apply even cleaner to the really dirty items — maybe the grill that was stored, without being properly cleaned — and chrome-cleaner to other items. When the cleaner is ready to be removed, just turn the garden hose on everything. Wipe dry and polish with handful of paper towels.

It's easy to forgive mistakes, but hard to forgive inaction.

No Special Fertilizers Are Needed

Michigan State University horticulture specialists say the use of special fertilizers for most flowers and shrubs are not necessary.

A good lawn fertilizer such as 12-6-6 or 10-10-10 will do the job. Just avoid fertilizers too high in nitrogen because they tend to make plants "spindly."

Well-rotted manure is excellent. But put a mulch of straw over the manure to cut down on weed growth.

MSU authorities add these reminders:

ANNUALS AND PERENNIALS Should be planted in fertilized ground. Addition of 5-10-5 or 10-10-10 fertilizer once a year to annuals and perennials will usually be adequate to keep the plants from poor growth.

TREES AND SHRUBS — Should be fertilized early. Avoid late summer or fall applications. Regular lawn fertilizer will do. When trees are growing in the lawn, additional fertilizer needs to be supplied to the roots at least every two years. As a rule of thumb, add 2 pounds of fertilizer for each inch of the tree trunk's diameter, then spread it as far out as the branches extend. Better yet, bore some holes 12 to 18 inches deep in a circle beneath the tree and put fertilizer in the holes, then flood with water. Fill the holes with peat moss and press sod in the hole afterward.

ROSES — Fertilize roses first when leaves start appearing; second time just as plants are flowering; and third, immediately after flowering. Use 2 to 3 pounds for each 100 square feet of rose bed—a handful to each bush. A well balanced fertilizer like 10-10-10 or 5-10-5 will do the job. But some people prefer special rose fertilizers which are usually more expensive.

Redecorate the Bathroom First

Have an urge to redecorate? Why not start with the bathroom?

It's the easiest room in the house to re-do, for two reasons: First, a few new items go a long way toward creating an entirely new look. Second, since the bathroom is not viewed constantly, you can use bolder color combinations than you would in other rooms.

Accessories to change the look of a bathroom can be colorful shower curtains, gay patterned towels, unusual towel hangers, bathmats, wall-to-wall rugs, pictures and wall hangings.

Choose a bright color scheme and carry it out in every item. Bars of soap, bath salts, bathroom tissue, even hand lotion are working accessories that do decorative duty if you choose the right colors.

If your bathroom is blue, you might try using accessories in shades of green. Try a moss green shower curtain and bathmat, with towel in avocado and pastel aqua.

If the bathroom has white walls and tile, the decorating possibilities are unlimited. Consider a black and white shower curtain, brilliant red rug and towels, and wall decorations that combine black and red.

If your walls are pink and you prefer a bold look, use accessories of deep, ruby red, and blend everything.
