

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure
The only Baking Powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar
NO ALUM, NO LIME PHOSPHATE

THE REASON.

AN INSTANCE.

"Pa, why are torments raging?"
"I suppose they are like people, and are raging because somebody is trying to cross them."

"Does sickness really turn the hair gray?"
"Well, I've known delirium to make brunettes light-headed."

ITS NATURAL CONDITION.

NO MATERIAL.

"The highest thing in the world has a streak of yellow in it."
"What is that?"
"The rainbow."

"Was there a black sheep in your family, too?"
"No. The rest of the children of my father and mother were all girls."

STOLE THE ARMY'S MOUNTS Horse Thieves That Annoyed General Buell at Fort Griffin Pursued and Slain.

Like every other frontier army post or civilian settlement, Fort Griffin had troubles of its own, says Denver Field and Farm. In 1870 horse stealing had become such a business as to be numbered among the infant industries. Old General Buell was in command there at the time and vowed vengeance on the satellites of the saddle who were prowling around nights and running off the government stock. The black soldiers of the Tenth cavalry always voted themselves smart enough to guard Uncle Sam's property through the lonesome vigils of the night, but they could not outwit the horse thieves, and the stealing went right on.

The meanest gang in the country was that of Lloyd and Gresham, for they did a wholesale business every time they came around. Finally they got away with over a hundred head of cavalry mounts one night when the cavalry was grazing outside under a negro guard. The following morning Lieutenant Hunter and a company of the buffalo troops took the trail and Buell's last word was to bring back the stock or keep away altogether. Eight miles west of Fort Griffin they came in the night to the Canyon Blanco and espied the thieves asleep in their blankets.

At the peep of day the charge was made and every last one of the gang, nine of them in all, were shot dead as they lumbered peacefully on, and their bodies were left to feed the prowling coyotes and the carrion buzzards. For these riders of the plains were the men "that God made mad, for all their words were merry and all their songs were sad." Life was a little too short in those days to stop and bury horse thieves and their bones lie bleaching there today in the happy Texas sunlight.

WHAT HE THOUGHT
A man, living at Auburn, New York, had a severe attack of kidney and bladder trouble. Being a working man, not wanting to lose time, he cured himself completely by using Foley Kidney Pills. A year later he says: "It is a pleasure to report that the cure was permanent." His name is J. A.
Farmer. Sold by T. H. McGee.

Told in a Few Words
Chas. Cassledon, Cumberland, Wyo., says he had the worst cough a man ever had and cured it in a few days with Dr. Warner's White Wine of Tar.

"When I invest in a wagon I buy a Studebaker, then it's a safe investment"

Of course it is! Studebaker wagons are built on honor, with sixty years of wagonbuilding experience—and with every wagon goes a Studebaker guarantee.

You can't afford to have a dealer sell you some other wagon represented to be "just as good."

If you want a wagon that will last, run easily and stand up to its work, there is only one wagon to buy —and that's a Studebaker.

Don't trade ten extra years of service for a few dollars difference in price.

Studebaker wagons are made to fit every requirement of business or pleasure, in city, town or country.
