Farmington Campfire Girls Climax Day Camp Activities

Farmington Area Campfire Girls and Bluebirds last week climaxed their final day camp activities at the Pontiac Lake Recreation Area, under the leadership of the Oakland County Campfire Girls.

The camp director, Mrs. Richard W. Steiger of Farmington, reports that the theme for this year's day camp was "Indian Lore" and the "Indian way of doing things."

The girls learned how to be comfortable outdoors and how to make things with natural materials.

MANY MORE HONORS were earned by the Campfire Girls. They also learned many new songs.

Attending the final day camp session from Farmington last week and not pictured with the youngsters and leaders boarding the bus were Carol Anderson, Mrs. Lonnie Anderson, Lisa Kull, Suzanne Kull and Mary Jo Ross.

At the final session, each unit at day camp presented Mrs. Steiger with a can decorated with symbols of what they had done for the six days of day camp. This formed a totem pole.

MRS. STEIGER presented each girl with a felt symbol as a remembrance of day camp. As a thank you for making the day camp a success.

There were 70 girls and adults attending and helping these girls and leaders who came from all over Oakland County.

Michigan Open Golf Tourney Set Aug. 14-16

The top professional and amateur golfers in Michigan will be on hand August 14-16 at the Pontiac Lake Lakelands Country Club, Winona Lake, Brighton, when the 44th Michigan Open Golf Tournament gets under way.

Qualifying trials will be held July 27 at Lakelands and Cedar Lake, Brighton, and the 18-hole tournament will open on Friday and Saturday followed by a 36-hole windup Sunday, Aug. 16.

Tournament Chairman Art Meyers of Lakelands said the host club will be well prepared with parking facilities and refreshments for the public attending the event, one of the state's outstanding sports attractions.

Among winners in recent years are John Barnum of Grand Rapids, a four-time winner, and Walter Burkemo of Detroit Golf Club, a three-time champ. The tourney last year was won by Phil Wiechman, Holland American Legion Club Pro, who edged out Burkemo in a stirring finish at Atlas Valley Country Club, Flint. John Barnum placed third.

A NEW TREAT this year is Ted Kroll, new pro at Franklin Hills, former World Open champion. He ranks ninth in money winning on the national PGA tour.

Local Men Undergoing Army Reserve Training

The 300th Military Police Prisoner of War Command, Army Reserve Unit based in Dearborn, Michigan, will undergo its annual active duty training for a two-week period this month at Camp McCoy, Wisconsin.

The Command will act as a major control headquarters and will supervise the training of Army Reserve military police units ranging from Indianapolis, Indiana to Omaha, Nebraska.

Colonel Arthur P. Brandstatter is the unit's commander. In civilian life, he is the head of the School of Police Administration and Public Safety at Michigan State University.

"During these two weeks," Col. Brandstatter pointed out, "the men will apply the lessons learned in the classrooms at their training centers to the solution of practical exercises involving their military skills and judgment."

"THIS PERIOD is filled with training opportunities that cannot be duplicated. A prime example are the four days that gives everyone the opportunity to sharpen his knowledge of how to function at his job while living under field conditions."

Part of the training that the Command will supervise involves handling of prisoners of war, together with other military police specialties such as guarding vital installations, making raids, traffic control and rear area damage control. The unit was started by the Army after Korea. It was developed because of the need shown for a trained organization to take charge of prisoners of war, in the battle area; transport and process them; and supervise their confinement.

The 300th MP PW Command is assigned training tasks involving supervision of subordinate units due to its highly trained staff and flexible organization.
