Vigilant Watchdog

Editor: I am among the many who was deeply saddened by the death of Paul Chandler. He was, in fact, a man of great integrity and a dedicated journalist who served the welfare of all the people at heart. He will be deeply missed by the entire community, and his memory will linger for a really long time.

The paper, I understand, will still be the vigilant watchdog of the entire community, just as it has been in the past years. The "Facts and Opinions" column will certainly be hard to replace, but on the other hand, the new editorial page may serve the purpose. I am hoping that "Observing the Scene" will carry the same controversial, excellent, as its forerunner, and, if so, we can then expect true reporting of just what is transpiring in our local community and the world about us.

In reading the personnel directory on the editorial page I am wondering who is assigned to City Hall reporting. This I believe is an important news source and I feel the readers will undoubtedly want to know what's going on at all times. There is no doubt, at least in my mind, that even elections are won and lost by the bombshells coming from City Hall.

While on this subject I am wondering who was found wanting in the $200,000 pension fund deal, and just who and how are these funds being handled to day, and what, if any, precautions have been taken to prevent a recurrence of this incident. Also speaking of City Hall I am still wondering what happened to the city attorney who started out with a loud voice telling us how competent his new employer was and how he would keep us informed at all times just how things were progressing. Has he been silent or a brain-washed? Haven't heard from him since his initial outburst.

No doubt everyone will be busy campaigning for the candidate of their choice in the upcoming Senatorial Race, however I hope the news close to home is not neglected. I have personally enjoyed reading the Mayor's column and also the columns of the various councilmen. These, I think, bring out the different views on any given subject and also divulge a number of basic differences in thinking. While the minutes of the Council meetings are published I think most of us would like to know a little about the wheeling and dealing that goes on behind the scenes.

This, I think, is where a good honest reporting job is necessary, and we have received this through your paper. At this time I want to wish the new management the very best of everything, and while you have a monumental task to perform I feel sure you will meet it admirably. If and when I have any questions or difference of opinion I trust you will enjoy hearing about them from me.

Very truly yours,
C. W. MCINTYRE

Compressed Clutter

Editor: With the whole country becoming conscious of DIAGEES, AND HOW THEY PROJECT, let us bring one glaring example into nonconformity with our Great Society to the attention of the residents of Livonia.

The appearance of the youth employment bureau upon entering the city hall of Livonia. The only words applicable to this area is compressed clutter. Space is definitely not available for this employment agency within the confines of the lobby of City Hall. It presents a fire hazard, being directly in line, and in front of the rear door of City Hall and it does not add a single item to the decor of the building.

This service is a youth service and offices should, and could, be maintained in the high schools, with a branch at Bentley and Franklin High Schools.

Thanks for Publicity

Editor: All too often today we find kindness and consideration of others' taken for granted. We, therefore, would like to take this opportunity in behalf of Michigan General No. 5 of Jehovah's witnesses to express our thanks for your consideration and cooperation in publicizing our recent assembly held at Franklin High School, December 25-27.

We especially in the News Service Department was so very thankful. We sincerely appreciate your efforts to place our releases. Be assured that your cooperation and help means much to us and all Bible loving people in the Livonia area.

FOR 351 GENERAL MOTORS salaried employees in the Livonia area, Friday, January 22, was a special day as they shared $538,822 in GM common stock, government bonds and cash for their participation in the 1959 Savings Fund Plan under the Corporation's Savings-Stock Purchase Program. Typical

Livonia GM Employees Share $538,822 in Stock Dividends

Distribution of approximately $538,822 in General Motors common stock, government bonds and cash to 60,000 salaried employees in the U. S. who participated in the 1959 Savings Fund Plan under the Corporation's Savings-Stock Purchase Program.

TRANSFERRING FOOD FROM THE OLD to the new is Mrs. Michael A. Killinger of 31601 W. Chicago, Livonia. Mrs. Killinger answered her door recently and a deliveryman told her that her new refrigerator was in his truck for delivery. The only problem was that Mrs. Killinger didn't know that she had a new refrigerator coming. Four days later she received a letter from the Ajax Puzzle Sweepstakes telling her that she had won the appliance and to expect delivery within three weeks.

Surprise Package for Livonia Housewife

When the doorbell of her home rang last week Mrs. Michael A. Killinger of 31601 W. Chicago, Livonia, thought that it was simply an organization collecting old newspapers and clothes.

It was not. Instead it was a delivery man who wanted to give her something. He said that he had her new refrigerator in the truck and where did she want it placed.

Mrs. Killinger thought he was either lost or joking. Neither supposition was true as the delivery man had a delivery slip with the correct name and address. Finally
