

Snowed-In School Bus Was News in 1947

Tuesday morning eight pupils: Richard Ungermann, Jack Schroeder, Charles Ungermann, James Fisher, Virginia Ford, Doris DeForge, Hugh Clark and Richard Oja were on Livonia Township School bus number 31 when it was stuck in a snow drift on Five Mile Road between the Carl Wagnenschutz and Earl Bedell farms.

The bus was enroute to Newburg and Stark schools and before any attempt could be made to back the bus out a truck hauling a semi-trailer got cross ways in the road directly behind the school bus and the driver and students were marooned for the night.

Part of the group was very graciously taken in by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bedell and the remainder by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wagnenschutz. During the evening all of them were invited to the Bedell's to play games and to see Mr. Bedell's moving pictures taken in Sweden, Norway, England and the Southern States. A very enjoyable time was spent. All parents were notified by 4:30 and at 8:30

Tuesday night the Wayne County plow got through to the bus, but it then was too late to transport the eight home.

The pupils were returned home Wednesday morning after thanking the Wagnenschutzes and Bedells for their meals and lodgings.

Mr. Adams phoned his wife that morning telling her that the bus was in the snow, but he neglected to say that Tuesday night and consequently Mrs. Adams was still looking for her husband Wednesday morning.

Between 25 and 50 per cent of the teachers were unable to get to the schools Tuesday and Superintendent Harry L. Johnson closed the schools again Wednesday, however, Thursday they were back to normal.
