"We hope to do our part in at least keeping some people of the highways and yet give them some form of activity in which to participate." Anders declared.

On the subject of track, two other items come to mind.

The first deals with the international prep school meet for deaf boys to be staged in Washington during the summer. Hayes Jones, the Michigander who won in last year's Olympics in Tokyo, tells of one Michigan youngster who may have to miss the Washington trip because of a shortage of funds.

"This boy is Michigans' best We should do something to help him," Hayes decelared.

THE SECOND TRACK item has to do with horse and harness racing. We're told that last year's action in Michigan brought in something like $13 million to the state treasury.

As previously reported, records for cross and wagering the reset during both the running and trotting seasons at the Detroit Race Course on Middihelet Roads. All indications point to even a bigger year in 1869.
