

HAVE YOU EVER seen a 4½ foot Easter Basket? Well you can this Easter season. The above two were constructed by Lawrence Mayer, Farmington florist for Red Holman, Pontiac dealer. His showroom is located on Wayne Road in Wayne, Michigan and the beautiful baskets will be there during the Easter season. It took Mr. Mayer and an assistant nearly 25 hours to construct these two baskets. They are filled with paper mache bunnies, hand painted Easter eggs—delight for boys and girls on an Easter egg hunt.

Farmington Visitors From Japan Charming, Friendly

By JERRY WENDT

"Japan's is a man's country, America is a woman's paradise." This is the opinion of recent Japanese visitors, Cleveland Well, his wife, Sachiko, and Mr. Kenzo Takata.

We were sitting in the charming living room of the Sugar room (a whole story could be done on this fascinating home and its glamorous mistress, Beverly Segar), and interviewing her house guests, her brother, Cleveland Well, his wife, Sachiko, and their friend Mr. Takata, businessman in Tokyo.

It seemed impossible that Cleveland Well had spent the last three years in Japan, representing his company, Sugima, dealers in semi-precious stones. He appeared typically American, keen witted and well versed on current topics of the day. Sachiko, his Japanese wife was very doll-like in appearance with her black hair flowing to her shoulders and her slight figure clad in a lemon colored sheath.

Of course we questioned the visitors on the difference between Japan and America.

"Surprisingly enough," said Cleveland Well, "there is very little difference. Ever since the Japanese have rapidly been becoming more modern. There is a definite revolt among the young people.

"They no longer desire to imitate their elders. Formerly a boy was a student until 26 years of age. After that he slowly made his way upward in the caste system. Now, the young men are becoming independent. They have made successful ventures into fields unknown to their parents."

Cleveland also disclosed how extremely modern the Japanese have become in their manufacturing and transportation areas. Their airplanes and trains are the latest models and their TV is actually superior to ours.

SPRING INSIDE, but winter outside was the order of April 1 for "My Fair Lady" fashion show and luncheon sponsored by the Franklin Knolls Women's Club at Glen Oaks. Looking Springlike and enjoying the afternoon were (l-r) Mrs. Edward Hess, Mrs. Kenneth Gurto, Chairman of the day, Mrs. Peter Morello, Mrs. James Lafer, Mrs. Betty Blair.
