MRS. CHARLES E. McILHARGEY

Nankin Twp. Treasurer Takes Livonia Bride

The flickering glow of candle light illuminated the altar of St. Theodore's Catholic Church, Nankin, Saturday, April 24 when Andrea C. Mucchio exchanged wedding vows with Charles E. McIlhargey.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Mucchio of 14225 Lyons, Livonia.

Mr. McIlhargey, Nankin Township treasurer, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. McIlhargey of Ionia.

For the double ring ceremony, Miss Mucchio wore a bridal gown of Spring organza. Fashioned in the floor length with a sheath skirt from the gown featured appliques of imported Swiss embroidery on the boat neckline.

A brief bouffant veil of illusion cascaded from a Dior bow set with tiny orange blossoms. Completing her ensemble was a single strand of cultured pearls, a gift of the bridegroom, and a spray of roses and carnations with a detachable orchid corsage center.

The bride's two cousins, Janice and Patricia Mucchio were bridesmaids. They wore lavender gowns of tulle in the floor length with Watteau trains.

Lavender and deep purple were the contrasting colors forming the floral headpieces of net. The attendants carried cascades of pink carnations.

Assisting his brother-in-law as best man was Bud Bollinger of Ionia. Seating the guests were J. Edward Gunther and William Bugianello.

The bridegroom's niece, Debbie Bollinger, wore a short white frock of nylon and carried a wicker basket of pink carnations in her role as flower girl. The bride's younger brother, David, was the ring bearer.

The wedding guests adjourned to Pandora's for a champagne wedding brunch. Focal point of the bride's table was a four tier wedding cake fashioned in Spring pastels.

Friday's rehearsal dinner was held at Lady's in Plymouth.

The bride is a graduate of Bentley High School, Livonia. Her husband, a graduate of St. Mary's High School, Wayne, attended Eastern Michigan University and Austin P. State Teachers College in Tennessee. He is also a member of the Wetland Charter Commission.

Nursery Mothers Meet in Lansing

The 14th annual conference of the Michigan Council of Co-operative Nurseries focused on "As the Twig Is Bent" will be held on May 10 and 11, 1966, at Kellogg Center at Michigan State University.

About 450 women from all over the State of Michigan will be learning new skills in art, science, music, drama, and nursery play as they attend workshops and demonstrations. They will also hear lectures on meeting the various needs of children.

Dr. Elaine Porter, Professor of Family Life Education at Brigham Young University, will be the keynote speaker, discussing "Communication in the Family with Young Children" at dinner on Monday evening.

Miss Esther Middlewood, Chief of the Education Section of the Michigan Department of Mental Health, will talk on the "Young Child's Handling of Aggression" at the luncheon on Tuesday.

Members of the Plymouth Child's Nursery attending the conference are teachers Mrs. Lionel Guregan, Mrs. John Hopkins and Mrs. William Kleckner; president Mrs. James D. Slanger, and vice president Mrs. Alan Woodworth. Mrs. Albert Stanwood will be conducting one of the administration workshops for nursery school teachers.

Mrs. Donald Kory from Redford Township will also be presiding.
