Guild Gives Library $50

The success of the 1964-65 season for the Children's Entertainment Guild was the topic of conversation at its recent annual meeting.

Sponsored by the Livonia Libraries, the group held two performances for Livonia youngsters and have made plans to have three for the coming season.

Plans are to have a theater production, a musical and a choreography program during 1965-66.

Marilyn Rosenthal, retiring chairman of the group stated that because of the response to cultural entertainment for our young people the Guild was able to purchase children's books for the library this year. A non-profit organization there have been occasions when individual members have subsidized the treasury in order to meet the budget.

Wilma Wagner has been named as chairman for the coming year. Rachel Rion will act as secretary and Pat Morrill as treasurer.

Garden City Youth Named to Committee

James Abalel of 2554 James Garden City, a student at Garden City High School, has been named to serve on a Youth Advisory Committee formed to advise the Michigan State Fair management on teen-age tastes and attitudes.

Karen Pick of 31332 Elmwood, Garden City, is the alternate delegate from Garden City High.

The committee of 25 metropolitan area high school students was formed according to Charles Flig, chairman of the Michigan State Fair Authority, "to keep abreast of the changes in tastes and attitudes of young people in terms of fair programs, exhibits and entertainment."

"The young people actually were recommended by their high school principals or administrators and form a geographical cross section representative of the heavily populated area in and around Detroit," Flig said.

Members of the Youth Advisory Committee were selected as follows: one from each of the high schools in the nine Detroit public regions; four from the Catholic Archdiocese high schools; two from the Lutheran schools; and 10 from suburban high schools.

Ages were from 15 through 18 years.

They will display housewares and furnishings along the enclosed shopping center's malls during the regular hours of 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Pieces exhibited will date back as far as 200 years and include copper, brass and pewter items, furniture, Tiffany lamps, cut glass, fine china accessories and Flea Market items. Although many have small value now, they promise to be the heirlooms of tomorrow.

Those exhibiting include: Sally's Antiques, Northville; Antiques Anonymous, Northville; Lillian Crow, Royal Oak; Murtagh's Antiques, Livonia; Hamilton-Florence Antiques, Highland Park; Antiques by Alexander, Southfield.

Mark Fisher, Detroit; The Red Sled, Farmington; Red Rooster Antiques, Pontiac; Bishel's, Detroit; Nook and Cranny Shoppe, Farmington; Pickwick Shop, Farmington; Collectors Corner, Detroit; and Holly Hill Antiques, Farmington.

Masque Production Of 'Rebel' Has Merit

BY SUE SHAUGHNESSY
Adolescent behavior was the film-makers' favorite subject a few years back.

There was a rash of movies dealing with teenagers—good and bad. Probably the best of these was "Rebel Without a Cause" starring James Dean and Sal Mineo.

The stage adaptation of the film is currently running Thursdays through Sundays at the Masque Theatre until July 17.

It is a production with considerable merit.

Jack Sarcona, who appears in the lead role of Jim Stark, is convincing.

The real star of the show, however, is Freddie Alpert who appears as Plato. A local boy who attends Cranbrook High School, he steals the show by acting, not hamming.

Bernadette Lukaski appears as Judy and her performance improves as the play moves on.

Real accolades go to Director Maraman Giosenger, however, for his effective staging and set.

For their lack of scenery, it is a tribute to his work and to the entire cast that nothing is lost by the complete absence of a set.

Rather, this void, while demanding more of the audience, assists in the fast changes of locale.

Louise Martin, well known to local audiences from her appearances in Livonia's Redford Theatre Guild and Redford Suburban League productions, appears in the cast as Mrs. Stark—the domineering mother.

She is convincing as the shrew, but stilted when the role demands some understanding and compassion.

As was stated earlier, the production has a considerable merit and should be on the theatre-goers list of "things to see."

Be prepared for a long evening though. While the pace of the play is just about right, the two 20-minute intermissions are killing. This reviewer would strongly suggest that the theatre-goers be cut in half during any future productions.

Rotary Sends Redford Kids to Summer Camps

A happy and unexpected event by many attending was the formal presentation of a check from the Redford Rotary Club to send six children to Camp for two weeks.

The check was presented to Robert Tower, President of the Redford Rotary Club, by Art Harper and Dolph Flohn.

The Public is invited to attend RARC meetings held on the second Tuesday of each month at 8 p.m. in the Beech Road School, 18499 Beech-Dale Road. Refreshments and a social hour follows each meeting. For information call KE 4-6259 or KE 3-8722.

The Sheltered Workshop organization is well under way and an attempt is being made to discover the names of persons who might take advantage of this service. Redford representative is PHYLLIS ARMOUR, KE 1-6842, who will assemble this information.

Group Meeting
Boys and girls between the ages of six and 12 are invited to participate in the Farmington YMCA's Summer Fun Club. It meets on Tuesday mornings between 10 a.m. and 12 noon. Its activities are crafts, soft ball, archery, hiking, ping pong, pool, and table games. It is informal, with no registration required. For Y members it costs 25 cents for each session.

MOST WINS
Hank Aguire has more major league victories than any other pitcher on the Detroit Tiger staff. Going into the 1965 season he had 53 wins.

DWAYNE HICKMAN AND DEBORAH WALLACE visited the State Theater in Wayne last week. They are currently on a promotion tour for their recent films. At the time of the visit Miss Wallace's film "Ski Party" was showing at the Theater.

Color Panels on Display at Cranbrook

Eminent artist Josef Albers has devoted years to the study of color phenomena and the development of a color theory.

Some of the results of this research in the form of the Albers color panels will be on display in Cranbrook Institute of Science from July 15 through August 30. The exhibit is circulated by the Smithsonian Institution.

Albers has written: "Color is the most relative medium in art. In order to use color effectively it is necessary to recognize that color deceives continuously."

In his book Interaction of Color, Albers demonstrates that no color exists independently but rather that each color is affected by adjacent tones. He then develops the thesis that we have little idea about color and then increases our sensitivity to it.

Optical illusions, after-images, color textures, color temperatures, spatial effects, the distortion of color photography and reproductions are all illustrated in his book and the exhibit based upon it.

Cranbrook Institute of Science is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on the weekends, except major holidays. There is an admission charge.

To Tour Europe In Chorus Group

David Stidwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Stidwell, of 23663 Longacre, in Farmington, is one of the members of the Michigan Youth Chorus, a group of 68 teenagers and their sponsors, representing 35 Michigan communities, left June 23 for an eight-week concert tour of four European countries.

Mr. Robert Pratt, chairman of the music department of the Ann Arbor High School, is their conductor.

Making their fifth trip to Europe on their eighth international concert tour, the Chorus will leave Wednesday evening from Metropolitan airport, for their first stop at Bangor, Northern Ireland.

The 80-day itinerary will include Bangor, Northern Ireland, Burton-on-Trent and Tunbridge Wells, England, Amsterdam, Holland, and a tour through Holland, in Germany, they will sing in Stolberg, Tschirnberg, Berlin and in Hamburg. Television and radio performances are scheduled in each country.

Chorus members will live in the homes of European families during their stay in each city. They were chosen from more than 300 students of Michigan high schools who auditioned during last October.

The purpose of the group tour is to carry American student's interpretation of our school music programs into other countries.

The Michigan Youth Chorus is sponsored by Youth for Understanding, an organization which is related to and cooperates with the Michigan Council of Churches and other religious and educational groups.
