

"Good grief, Mom . . . You mean you put in another Observer want-ad?"

"You'd think the last time would have been enough. What an experience! People came and took away my basinette. (So, it was a little small!) They took the sterilizer. They even took all the furniture that used to be in the spare room. And, guess who's all by himself now . . . Dad? Oh, he was a BIG help. He thought Mom was so smart he even kissed her, for heaven's sake!"

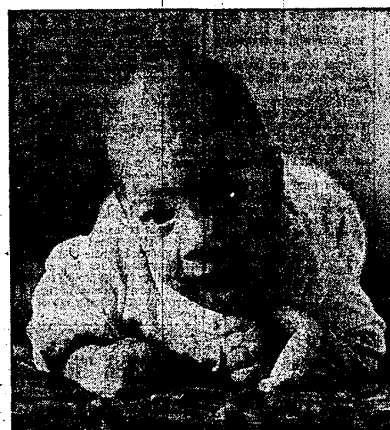

"Yep . . . she did it! There she goes, answering the phone again."

"Maybe if I could get those folks at the Observer to stop making it so easy to place an ad it would help. You see, all Mom did was make a list of that good stuff I guess we really weren't using any more. Then, she dialed The Observer-Want Ad Department and told somebody called, 'that nice Ad Visor' about it . . . Well, you know the rest. I heard her tell Dad that a 15 word ad was only $2.00 per insertion. Whatever that means."

"Of course, I'll have to say this, my new bed is pretty nice . . ."

"And, I like the other stuff Observer Classified Ads helped pay for, too. So, I suppose I shouldn't complain. You know, now that I think of it, seems like everybody around here is happier since Mom started using Observer Classified Ads . . . 'Cept me, that is. Frankly, I'm tired of the whole thing. Ho hum . . ."
