Bentley High Students Enthusiastic About Play

By SUSAN DOWELL

Not only was the "Time Out For Ginger" but also a lot of time spent on applause for the entertainers in this year's Senior Play. Yes, "Time Out For Ginger," the senior play enacted this year, was a big hit. On Nov. 12 and 13 the evenings of the two performances in the auditorium at Bentley was packed.

The play was mainly about a young girl who thought that men and women should be equally qualified to do any sort of thing. Anne Friedrichs became "Ginger" for a few hours and took the part of that girl who believed in equality among girls and boys. She believed this so strongly that she decided to go out for the high school football team. The thing that amazed everyone was that she made the team. Although Ginger's boyfriend was against this, there was nothing much Tommy (Roger Dean) could do.

Two of the funniest comedians in the show played the parts of Ginger's parents, Mike Degutis, an excited father with his funny hat and raccoon coat had people sore from laughing so hard. Sally Bowser was perfect for her part as the understanding mother. Her quick replies to her husband, when he so often begged her to stay home with him instead of going to see one of her daughters perform, were followed by laughter.

Ginger was not the only child in the family. She had two dramatic sisters who were full of pep and poise. These two young ladies were played by Chris Driver and Judy Schoenberg. One of the best examples of a principal was Bob Mundy, who took the part of Mr. Wilson in the play. The typical boss was enacted terrifically by Gordon Nicholas. Every household needs a daughter with a make-yourself-at-home boyfriend. Tom Flewelling took on this task and did it to perfection. His somersault on the couch was an unexpected surprise to everyone. Last but especially not the least was Lizzie, the maid. Who would best suit this comical part? None other than Diane Matthews. Her funny way and unusual way of dressing added color to the play.

The play, "Time Out For Ginger" was directed by Mr. John Glanz. Susan Beger

helped as student director. The job of student manager was fulfilled by Norma Dittmar.

Special thanks are extended to the following faculty members: Mr. John Glanz (Director), Mr. Gary Vance (Class Sponsor), Mr. Robert Pepper (Asst. Class Sponsor), Mr. Charles Britten (Sponsor), and Miss Elizabeth Satwa (Casting).

Yearbooks are still on sale! Students who are interested in buying one of these worthwhile books can do so until Nov. 22. The yearbook is a treasure that Bentley pupils can keep to remind them of the days that were so much fun. All students planning to graduate from Bentley should plan on purchasing the yearbook.

The Farnsworth club is now in the process of getting stories and poetry for this year's magazine. Any work that students feel are good enough to enter the Farnsworth should do so as soon as possible.

College Lists Music Concert

Schoolcraft College will present the second of a series of Library Concerts Thursday, Nov. 18 at 11 a.m. when two members of the faculty will participate in a recital.

Mrs. Leslie Elzen, mezzo-soprano, and Pianist Allen Shaffer will headline the program. Mrs. Elzen has done considerable professional singing in the area, including leading roles in Faust, Madam Butterfly and Carmen. She has been a soloist on several occasions with the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra.

Shaffer, a graduate of Oberlin College and Syracuse University, is teaching at Schoolcraft and is working on his Doctorate at the University of Michigan. He is organist and choir director of the First Methodist Church in Garden City.

Redford Twp. Goodfellows Get Ready for Holidays

Redford Township Goodfellows are getting ready for their annual holiday projects.

President Harold Remington announced that four committees had been appointed to start work for the Goodfellows' campaign of "No Child Without A Christmas." Each year, with money raised through the sale of special editions of newspapers the Goodfellows provide disadvantaged and economically deprived children with holiday toys and a party.

Don Rinke is vice-president, Patricia L. Comrie is treasurer and Arthur Bembeneck is secretary.

Heading the Investigating committee are Jim Gordon and John Boski. Horace Engler and Albert Forbes are publicity committee members, Jack McKinley is in charge of the party and Pat Riley is in charge of toys.

Becomes Specialist

Joseph P. Macdewicz, son of Mrs. Louise R. Highfield, 34434 John Hawk St., Garden City, was promoted Oct. 20 to Specialist four in Germany.

The 22-year-old soldier is a 1960 graduate of Wayne High School and was employed by the Packaging Corporation, Plymouth, before entering the Army.
