

Jumpy Residents Call Police Without Hesitation

Jumpy residents of Western Wayne County are calling their police departments the moment screen door squeak, the window rattles, or the cat knocks over a milk carton on the back porch, while the search for a lost pet or a missing child continues in Nankin Township. Women in the area have locked their doors tightly and won't let anyone in without positive identification while sheriff's deputies have stepped up their area patrols.

Words of caution and ways to thwart any would-be molester of the sheriff's department said this week that women would probably be more adept with "Use hair spray," one officer has advised.

Inspector Richard Novak of the sheriff's department said this week that women would probably be more adept with an aerosol hair spray dispenser than with a gun.

"It's really stingy," he noted. Since the area became alarmed over seven recent attacks on women, telephones have not stopped jangling. Detectives in the sheriff's office have checked out over 200 tips reported since the hysteria set in.

In Garden City, adjacent to Nankin Township, Lt. Al Levine said Tuesday, "It's getting lots of calls that we don't normally get. Ordinary noises that wouldn't bother people, cause them to jump for their phones."

Tonight at the Nankin Township Hall, the Nankin Citizens' Forum has called a public meeting to discuss police protection in the township.

Schmidt's Resignation Accepted

The resignation of Louis Schmidt, Superintendent of Clarencville Schools, was accepted by the members of the Board of Education, Nov. 17.

In acting on the resignation, originally tendered in a letter last month, the Board adopted this resolution:

"Whereas, the superintendent has served this district for the last eighteen years; and

"Whereas, the entire community is deeply indebted to the superintendent for the loyalty he has shown and the hard work he has done; and

"Whereas, the Board of Education wishes to honor Mr. L. E. Schmidt;

"It is hereby resolved to accept the superintendent's resignation effective September 1, 1966 and to gratefully thank him for his many years of devoted service."

Observer Appoints Two New Editors

Two new appointments in the Observer Newspapers' editorial department have been announced by Mrs. Myra Chandler, publisher.

Sue Shaughnessy will assume the duties of editor of the Farmington Observer.

Miss Shaughnessy, 26, holds a Ph.D. degree from the University of Detroit, where she majored in English. A long-time resident of Livonia, she graduated from Ladywood High School in 1966. She has done graduate work in history at the University of Detroit and New York University.

Miss Shaughnessy will replace Allen Rosenfeld in the editorial position. Rosenfeld has joined the staff of the daily Pontiac Press as a business-labor reporter after more than a year on the Observer staff.

In the other appointment, Mrs. Chandler announced that Mrs. Jerry Wendt of Farmington has assumed the duties of Women's Editor.

Mrs. Wendt will cover social news in all six communities served by The Observer. She has been an employee of The Observer for the past year, working as Farmington social columnist, as a feature writer and in the newspapers' classified-department.

The Clarendville Federation of Teachers announced Monday that it would not contest the Clarendville Education Association in an election to determine the sole bargaining agent for Clarendville teachers.

In a statement the CFT said that while the CEA has had nearly a hundred percent membership for many years they have not effectively represented the teachers.

However, the newly formed CFT continued, we did feel that there was adequate time for the teachers to evaluate the merits of the Federation. The leaders of the CFT will take the position that they will permit the CEA to negotiate for the teachers with a "wait and see attitude."

IN LIVONIA MALL SHOOT

Kids Get Chance To Bag A Turkey

You can brush off your Dan'l Boone cap, brush up on stories of the wilderness, and get ready—if you are 12 years of age or under—to bring home the Thanksgiving Turkey.

You won't have to go out into the forest primeval, though, not in this modern age: The "forest" is on the Mall of the Livonia Mall Shopping Center at Middlebelt and Seven Mile Rd., and the turkeys will be bow and arrow targets set up Friday and Saturday, Nov. 19 and 20.

From 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Friday and from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday, the Livonia Mall Merchants' Association is going to award 10-pound turkeys to boys and girls who score bulls-eyes in the shopping center's first annual Turkey Shoot.

Six targets will be set up in the climate-controlled Mall near the large fountain located at Entrance B-C.

A Pilgrim boy and Pilgrim girl will help the children use the bows and each contestant will be allowed to fly three suction-tipped arrows at a target.

Each youngster scoring a bulls-eye will receive a letter good for one free turkey, weight up to 10 pounds, from Food Fair or Packers, the two supermarkets at the Livonia Mall.

Registration will be held on Saturday, Nov. 20 from 1 to 3 p.m. Students will be accepted at the recommendation of their teachers or an indication of some ability in the art media. No fee will be charged for instruction. Materials fee is $8.

For further information write or call Sister M. Angeline, line, 425-9000.

Famed Artist Has Class at Schoolcraft

Narendra Patel, an accomplished sculptor and painter, will be instructing a class in painting at Schoolcraft College on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 until 10 p.m.

Patel received a masters degree from the University of Baroda in India, as well as a masters degree from Wayne State University. He is also the recipient of many grants and awards for exhibitions in India and in the United States.

His shows include the 1959-61 Paris Biennale, the 1962 Venice Biennale, Michigan Artists' Show, and the Wayne State University Show. He has had two one-man shows here in Michigan, one in Detroit, and most recently with the Forsythe Gallery in Ann Arbor.

His work is included in the permanent collections of the National Gallery of Modern Art in New Delhi, India; The Kalamazoo Art Center; Westland Shopping Center. He is represented also in many private collections.

Patel is currently working on a masters degree in design at the Cranbrook School of Art.

Madonna Parents Club Plans Feather Party

Parents Club of Madonna College is sponsoring a feather party on Saturday, Nov. 20, at 7:30 p.m. The affair will be held in the student center off Levan and Schoolcraft roads in Livonia.

Chairman of the event is Joseph Gabrys.

O'Neil May Join Race for Congress

Without making an outright announcement, James F. O'Neil came as close as a candidate can in announcing this week that he's in the race for 19th District Congressman on the Republican ticket.

In a press release announcing his appearance next Tuesday at a meeting of the Livonia Republican Party, O'Neil and his forces wrote O'Neil has frequently been mentioned as a possible Congressional Candidate for the 19th District in 1968.

This makes the race a three-way fight now with Jack McDonald, Supervisor of Redford Township, and Richard Kuhn, defeated GOP nominee last year, the other two candidates. The 19th District seat is now held by Billie S. Farman, a Democrat, who was formerly Michigan's auditor-general.

O'Neil may shed more light on his candidacy at the Livonia GOP meeting which is scheduled for next Tuesday, Nov. 23, at 8 p.m. in the community room at Merrimack Lane, Five Mile at Merrimack Rd. The public is invited.

O'Neil, in addition to being a former member of the State Board of Education was active in the Citizens Action Committee to establish Schoolcraft College and served on its first board of trustees. He was the Republican congressional candidate from the 17th District in 1962 and ran for the U.S. Senate nomination in 1964. He lives in Livonia at 16097 Algonquin Drive. In 1963 he received a "Citizen of the Year" award from his employer.

The cost of TB to the American people is estimated at 700 million dollars a year.

See 250,000 Attending Auto Show

The Detroit Auto Dealers Association is gearing for the biggest reception in its history in observance of the Detroit Auto Show's 50th anniversary—Nov. 27 through Dec. 5.

Approximately 250,000 visitors are expected to see the new 1966 models as the show moves to mammoth Cobo Hall for the first time. Attendance at the 1965 model show was 150,000 in the Detroit Artillery Armory where it was held in recent years.

This year's dates are the earliest for any Detroit dealer show since 1958.

The show will occupy the entire main floor of Cobo Hall where visitors will be able to see and compare in comfort all of the new domestic cars, as well as the imports, under one big roof.

The National Automobile Shows of 1960 and 1962 were the only ones previously held in Cobo Hall. Success of these shows contributed to the AADA's decision to move this year.

New chairman of the Detroit Auto Show is Harry Tennyson, Toyco Toys, D.A.C. executive vice president, is show manager for the ninth year.

New Electronics Firm Opens In Livonia

Lafayette Radio Electronics, a unique commercial venture to Livonia, will formally open for business on Friday, Nov. 19, it was disclosed Monday by Dan Andrew, the City's Industrial Coordinator.

Located at 33760 Plymouth Rd., just west of the South Branch Public Library, the firm sells stereo high fidelity components, citizens band radios and communications receivers, electronic test equipment, microphones, TV accessories, radio and TV tubes, phonograph stylus and cartridges, and tape recording equipment.

Joe Blumenthal, president, stated that the company is associated with the 45 year old Lafayette Radio Electronics of Sposset, Long Island, New York, a popular mail order and sales center, and that the Livonia store is their third location in the Detroit Metropolitan area.

According to Bob Robinson, manager of the Livonia store, delivery service will be available for their customers, and retail and extra sales will be conducted on a six day per week basis from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Plymouth GOP Hears Urban Renewal Talk

Ken Fisher, Director of Urban Renewal and Public Safety in Plymouth, will be the guest speaker Nov. 18 before the 2nd District Republican organization in Wayne County. The meeting is at 7:30 in the Plymouth Civic Union and is open to the public.

He will report on future plans of the Urban Renewal Committee.

McDonald Opens Campaign Office

A "McDonald for Congress Committee" office has opened at 33200 Grand River in Farmington.

Jack McDonald, currently supervisor of Redford Township, is seeking the Republican nomination for 19th District U.S. Congressional seat in next summer's primary election. The office is currently filled by Billie S. Farman, a first-term Democrat.

A new Rambler will be given away to one lucky visitor to the Detroit Auto Show, which is slated for November 27 - December 5 in Cobo Hall.
