This is the crew of Wellesley college, photographed just after a long pull on the Charles river, when they were in the time of their previous years by seven minutes. From left to right they are: Garrett Busey, Marie Mac-Masor, Dorothy Richardson, Carrie Travers, Caroline Taylor, Sibyl Sweet, Carolyn Blackstone, Dorothy Huggins and "Cozawa" Edna Joffion.

TALENT DEMOCRATIC

Find Tenors in Blacksmith's Shops—Sopranos in Street.

Half a Dozen British Guardians of the Peace the Producers of Mesmerism Paintings—London Post—man Becomes an Artist.

London—Genius is no respecter of persons. Indeed, it knocks more often at the door of the poor man's cottage than at the entrance of the rich man's mansion.

Our own generation is just as fruitful as any that are gone in examples of genius in humble life. Of our great living poets, William Watson first came to the light in a Walford farm house, and John Massfield, the latest star in the poetical firmament, found his first inspiration while working in the fields.

It is, however, among musicians that we find the most remarkable examples of talent in unexpected places.

And similar romantic stories are told of many a musician whose name is known to the Royal Academy, the E. C. Humber of the city of London, for one of whose clever carriages may be seen in the museum of the Guildhall.

ORLANDO DAMMIT IS PEAVED

North Carolina Man Wants Name Changed—Has Caused Him Much Worry.

Bloufords, N. C.—Orlando Dammit of this village wishes to change his name and has started proceedings to that end. Dammit says that his name has caused him a great deal of worry.

"I'm getting sick of it," says Dammit. "Good heavens, it was bad enough when I went to school. I played on the football team and whenever I made a good play the fellows used to give me a long cheer. It went something like this: 'Rah, rah, rah, hooray.' Dammit! Dammit! O Dammit!"

PUBLIC MEN ARE HONEST

Speaker Clark Tells Women's Democratic League Everything in Politics Is Not Corrupt.

Washington—If you are going to have anything to do with politics, don't let the pessimists lead you to believe that everybody and everything connected with American politics is corrupt.

UP TO THE HUMANE SOCIETY

Capture of Two Wild Lambs Likely to Cause Humane Law Enforcement.

Washington—A question of a state's right to enforce humane laws, in which the United States government is involved, is now presented to the Humane Society of Montana.

Two wild lambs, the first ever taken into captivity, recently were captured on Triple Divide mountain, Glacier National park. The Columbia garden zoo at Butte had secured permission from the government for two Glacier park rangers to go forth into the mountains and get two wild lambs for exhibition purposes.

The expedition was successfully carried out and the two rangers brought two lambs to Glacier park station, along across their backs after the fashion of a squaw carrying her posse.

der National park, there are two mother sheep worrying as to the whereabouts of their lost lambs.

In Montana even wild animals are protected to the extent that man must not rob a mother animal of her young.

Now the question arises, has the United States government the right to give to Superintendent Galen of Glacier National park preserve the right to rob two mother mountains sheep of their young and then send the crying lambs into the state of Montana to be kept beating their hearts out in a zoo?

'FIND' CAPT. KIDD'S TREASURE

Gypsy Enlightens Rancher—It is in a Rocky Cave on Western Coast, Ho, Ho.

Oregon City, Ore.—Declaring that he has received an inspiration from a gypsy fortune teller which will lead him to discover the famous treasure of Captain Kidd, which has been sought for centuries, I. Rivers, a prominent Williams rancher, will start from this city shortly for the Oregon coast.

Rivers states that several years ago while he and his wife were visiting at the Oaks they consulted a fortune teller, who told them that they would discover the treasure. She stated that it would be found in a cave in a rock, which is a prominent feature of the coast scenery near Nestucca beach.

Last year Rivers and his wife went to the beach and found the cave, which is marked by a cross and a horse shoe. Inside the cave, according to the fortune teller, they were to find the fortune at the end of a log. The log was found by Rivers, but he dug at the wrong end of it and so did not get the fortune.

PROTECT OLD BEAU'S GRAVE

Paris Jockey Club Believes That W. K. Vanderbilt Is the Mysterious Benefactor.

Paris—The newest mystery of the Jockey club is the identity of the rich American who keeps in good condition the grave of George Brummell, known as Beau Brummell, and during his lifetime as Beau Brummell.

It is surmised and believed by many that it is an American who is very rich and who lives in Normandy. This American owns a unique collection of Brummell's letters, drawings and other things which belonged to the Beau.

A section of the Jockey club holds that the possessor of the collection and benefactor of Beau's grave is W. K. Vanderbilt.

IS IT RIGHT TO ADVERTISE COCA COLA?

Men who play the wily game of politics have discovered that the best way to distract the attention of the public from their own shortcomings is to make a loud-mouthed, sensational attack upon someone else.

A case in point is the recent attack made upon the religious press for carrying Coca-Cola advertising. This attack was made by a politician who was supposed to be an expert in chemistry but who, having brought a suit against the Coca-Cola Company, was humiliated by having to acknowledge that he could not qualify as an expert.

How Mad She Was. The limit of forgiveness was surely reached by the woman who, after receiving 25 lashes from a baronet and having two ribs broken, refuses to prosecute her husband, and asks:

"What is the use of starting up a lot of trouble?" Perhaps it is as much dependence as forgiveness. In London, where wife-beating is a favorite sport of the stultus, the police find the greatest difficulty in bringing the offenders to book because women have to choose between charging that they were ill-used or starring while their brute husbands are in jail.

Now, somewhere, as above the clouds in the Rocky mountains of Glacier National park, there are two mother sheep worrying as to the whereabouts of their lost lambs.

Convict Made Pets of Mice. An interesting story of a convict and his two best mice told in the report of Captain Hanson, the prison commissioner of London.

Captain Hanson said the convict, who was imprisoned at Parkhurst, had been ill, but was ordered to another prison, where he was unable to take his pets.

Obvious Course. "What do you do when you get in deep water for speeding?" "Send for the first friend I can think of to bail me out."

AILING WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Mrs. Hilbert Tells of Her Distressing Symptoms During Change of Life and How She Found Relief.

Fleetwood, Pa.—"During the Change of Life I was hardly able to be around at all. I always had a headache and I was so dizzy and nervous that I had no rest at night. The flashes of heat were so bad sometimes that I did not know what to do.

"One day a friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made me a strong well woman. I am very thankful that I followed my friend's advice and I shall recommend it as long as I live. Before I took the Compound I was always sickly and now I have not had medicine from a doctor for years. You may publish my letter."

Such warning symptoms as sense of faintness, hot flashes, headaches, backache, dizziness, nervousness, irritability, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and ineffectiveness, and dizziness, are promptly relieved by intelligent women who are approaching the period of their life when woman's great change may be expected.
