Motor Trucks Displacing Mules in Army Service

WASHINGTON.—The motor truck is bound to mark the passing of the mule, just as it has begun to oust the animal's shorter-legged half-brother, the horse, from the transportation scheme of civil life, said an army officer on his return from an extended European tour. "It is only a matter of a short time before that picturesque and faithful adjunct of our military force is relegated to the much more prosaic life of the farm. What has been and is being accomplished by European governments in the matter of army transportation can be accomplished in our own country. And abroad the motor truck is being put to every conceivable test as to its fitness and capability in military maneuvers. The possibilities of the motor truck in our own army schemes are made evident in the report recently made by high army officials to the war department. According to this report, the total weight of supplies and impediments that must be carried with an army division of 20,000 men is 2,852,000 pounds, or a full load for 961 of such army wagons as are now used. These figures in road space alone show that there is a great waste with present methods. That number of wagons require a space of approximately eleven miles on a twenty-mile road, a column that is vastly too large to be economically handled. And besides, with eleven miles of wagons occupying the roads, there is no space left, unless it is before or behind the column, for the troops. "With mule and wagon transportation the troops are confined to a movement of only about 24 miles per day, for this is the limit of distance which mules or horses can cover in a day without injury. "With truck transportation this handicap is entirely eliminated. Not only can the supplies be moved with one-half as many vehicles, but for a motor truck will carry from two to five times as large a load as a mule wagon—thereby working a great economy in road space. But the truck travels at a vastly greater speed than the men. Where three to five miles an hour is considered good speed for a heavily laden mule wagon, the truck can travel at the rate of 15 to 20 miles an hour, and can keep it up twenty-four hours a day if necessary without tiring."

William F. McCombs Is Very Partial to Big Men

WILLIAM F. McCOMBS, the Democratic national chairman, has a decided penchant for the society of men of mountainous build. He himself does not tip the beam of the scale at a weight of less than 200 pounds, and he lives with men of the white horse caliber when it comes to size and strength. When he was an undergraduate at Princeton his tastes were decidedly literary. McCombs, when it came to the club elections, took an election to the "foot ball club," as one of the leading clubs there is accurately described, and among his intimates in his class were such old football stars as "Garry" Cochran, "Ad" Kelly, "Bill" Bannard and "Sport" Armstrong. When McCombs left Princeton to enter the Harvard law school, many of his athletic friends went up to Cambridge with him. He solved the problem by living through his three years' course with the man who had broken all the strength records of Harvard. His new chum was Henry F. Cochems, who had come to Harvard with the reputation of being one of the best football stars in the west. Cochems had played four years in the University of Wisconsin backfield, and was ineligible, but he would have played a tower of strength to the Crimson.

An Interesting Grove of Venerable Oak Trees

Thomas Murphy was born within 200 yards of where he lives today, and his life's experience has been confined to that pretty and romantic section of the District. Mr. Murphy said that when he was a little boy the land around there belonged to John Hoover and then to Walter Scott. Much of it later passed into the possession of John Britton, who kept a store on Seventh street, and a little later it passed to John B. Kibbas, who subdivided the big tract into small holdings. The Murphy place three generations ago belonged to Tobias Tether and the Murphy house was built about 60 years ago by a man remembered as Knight. "All this country was grown over with oak trees, like above," continued Mr. Murphy, "and the grove of 20 is about all that remains of the wide forest." It is worth a trip out that way to see the kind of timber that once covered the wooded sections of the District of Columbia. The Murphys constructed a rustic bench under one of the big trees. It was built so long ago that it is a very old bench now. When this reaches print it will be that these old oaks will be in leaf, and if you pass that way you should take a rest in the shade of the glorious trees.

Here Is a Man Who Eats Sand for All His Ills

THE national capital boasts at least one sand eating man. His name is Julius Emmons and he is a doorkeeper at the house of representatives. Emmons came from Noblesville, Ind., and came to Washington with the Democratic regime in the house more than two years ago. He is sixty-five years of age, hale and hearty. Emmons swallows a teaspoonful of sand after each meal. He never leaves his house in the morning without a pinch of coarse sand. He says he was troubled constantly with sour stomach, heartburn, indigestion and kindred troubles for over thirty years. "I have been eating sand for many years," he says, "and I feel better now than I have ever felt before. I sleep like a baby and enjoy my food to the full. I have no more trouble with my stomach."

SOME REMINDERS FOR THE ORCHARDIST

A New seedling Peach—Unusual Variety.

WHEN we see a farmer, particularly in the peach belts, buying peaches, we feel that one part of his education has been neglected. There are scores of communities in which about one-half of the residents grow their own peaches and the other half buy from them and then eat what they themselves have not raised. Peaches perhaps do best on sandy soil, but a good clay soil, thoroughly enriched and cultivated is now growing in many parts of the country excellent fruit. No matter how thrifty our peach orchard may be, constant planting is necessary to keep it thoroughly up to the mark because they develop and mature rapidly and are, therefore, short-lived. Peach trees decay more than any other fruit tree. No reason why fruit should not go to market, packed in the most attractive manner. Boxes and hampers are now being made of paper and are just as cheap as wood. There is almost as much in the selling of the fruit as in raising it and fruit that is well packed in attractive packages always brings the best prices. It is a sad mistake to plant young trees in the midst of old and over-cultivated trees, particularly when no attention is paid to the eradication of insects. It is permissible to allow a saw in the orchard occasionally, but it becomes pretty nearly being a crime to take an axe among the trees. Not much use to spray for leaf curl after the buds break. We tried to convince a man of this fact when we saw him spraying along the middle of June. He said he was spraying to prevent leaf curl, but did not know what caused it. Do you? How many fine orchards we have seen ruined by allowing a top-heavy growth. The way some people treat their orchards one would imagine that they gave their trees credit for possessing human intelligence and the power to protect themselves from enemies and to rid themselves of disease. The ground newly set trees should be firm frequently for at least a year as otherwise they are apt to be blown out of line by the strong winds. Do not be afraid to thin the fruit or the trees. Rub off the apples and peaches until one is left every five or six inches. It takes grit to do this, but you will have better and larger fruit if you will follow the plan. Orchard soil must be rich in organic matter and for that purpose if for no other clover crops are valuable. Orchard grounds should not be cultivated later than August first because cultivation keeps the soil running and the trees must have time to stop growing and harden before winter comes on.

"CROWN GALL" DESTROYS MANY TREES

"Crown Gall" on Peach "Crown Gall" on Apple "Nematode Gall" on Peach Root.

It is known to be more or less common in Europe. In Germany it is believed to be the result of injury to the roots received in cultivation or in some other way. In our own country it is more or less commonly known in many sections, and doubtless occurs throughout the greater portion of the United States. The only treatment that can be recommended at present is to vigorously exclude all affected plants when setting. No one can afford to plant such trees under any circumstances. The risk is too great and the chance of ever getting a profitable return from them far too small. Of course it is always desirable that the trees or plants should be obtained from nurseries where the disease does not exist, but it is not always possible to do this. The next best thing to do is to burn every tree in the orchard found to be affected.

Humus Is Essential.

Our old friend Humus does not stand much of a show with many farmers. They have not yet learned that in order to make material to last through the crop rotation we must plow under grass and other crops of that kind. It takes a little more to plow under your crop of clover, for instance, but it must be done if we are to keep up with the procession.

Guinea Pig as Food.

The guinea pig market is at present furnished largely by the demand for pets and for animals for scientific laboratories, but there is no reason why the animal should not be used as food in this country as it is in South America.

Easy to Grow.

The trailing nasturtiums are among the easiest annuals to grow and will give a supply of flowers the whole season.

Encourage the Boys.

The ownership of a handsome colt or a half-dozen well bred calves is often sufficient to keep a boy on the farm. Pretty cheap price and it's a pity that more farmers do not take advantage of the opportunity.

RINGWORM ON CHILD'S FACE

Stratford, Iowa.—"Three years ago this winter my seven-year-old son had ringworm on the face. First it was in small red spots which had a rough crust on the top. When they started they looked like little red dots and then they got bigger, about the size of a bird's egg. They had a white rough ring around them, and grew continually worse and soon spread over his face and legs. The child suffered terrible itching and burning, so that he could not sleep nights. He scratched them and they looked fearful. He was crows when he had them. We used several bottles of liniment, but nothing helped. "I saw where a child had a rash on the face and was cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I decided to try them. I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment about one month, and they cured my child completely." (Signed) Mrs. Barbara Prim, Jan. 30, 1912. Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. A HIDDEN DANGER

It is a duty of the kidneys to rid the blood of uric acid, an irritating poison that is constantly forming inside. When the kidneys fail, uric acid causes rheumatism, gout, kidney stones, gravel, urinary troubles, weak eyes, drops or heart disease. Doan's Kidney Pills help the kidneys fight off uric acid—bringing new blood to the kidneys and relieving from backache and urinary ills.
