

Collectors Gather in Plymouth for Show

One of the most unusual ex-replicas of Dr. Albert Schweitzer's collection will be open to the public on Sunday, Dec. 12 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Plymouth VFW Post 6625 in the VFW Hall, 1428 S. Mill Street (1/4 block north of Ann Arbor Road) in Plymouth. It is the Collectors' Exhibition and will feature the avocation of interesting people.

The exhibition will be a treat for the entire family and will create an inspiration for all to do yourself.

Walter J. Musial, Livonia, will display his models of automobiles, airplanes, trains, ships, boats — His display will appeal to every boy present from six to 60.

Miss Helen M. Cohn's display of character dolls include exact

The Garden Club of Plymouth representatives Mrs. Irene Arney and Mrs. James Gilbert of Plymouth also have delightful Christmas items to show.

Mrs. Leo Kowalczyk of Plymouth has a fantastic display of miniature vases.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Yerkes of Northville have post cards showing early pictures of Plymouth and Northville, greeting cards and largest greeting card in world sent through the mail.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Ridderick of Salem will show their Dutch crafts from the Netherlands, dolls, pewterware, delit and modern pottery.

Mrs. Ingeborg Leonard, organ and piano in miniature; antique and modern — most are musical.

Mrs. Bruce Scott and Mrs. Donald Mitchell, Plymouth, will please all of the girls and ladies with their dried apple dolls, "Little Women" dolls; mouse family of Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus and little mouse girls.

Mrs. Karl Starkweather, Plymouth, will show rare and unusual unique buttons.

Vaughn Smith of Ann Arbor, a wonderful display of mechanical banks.

Mrs. Harvey W. Jones, chairman, said she doubted if ever again such a display in one show such a display of collections and hobbies. She is anxious to have many families from the community come and enjoy the exhibition.
