Thurston Holds Senior Breakfast

By LYNN BARNETT

The annual Senior Breakfast held Dec. 21.

The college orientation provided an opportunity for students to get a direct report from the campus of their choice.

They found out about dorm life, scholarship programs, courses, and many more helpful things.

It was not only an informative experience, but students were also able to say hello to all the '65 graduates who attended college.

About 150 alumni attended and most of Thurston's seniors. Jon Jacobs and John Knox, counselors at Thurston, had just completed a revision of a booklet that lists most of the two-year training programs in colleges throughout the state.

These training programs are generally two years in length and train the student to work in a specialized area such as drafting, electronics, nursing, engineering technology, automotive technology, and secretarial science.

The Christmas issue of "The Eagle Outlook" was on sale Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 21 and 22. The 24-page issue, was printed in red and green.

The "Candy Cane Affair" took place Thursday, Dec. 23. The dance, sponsored by the sophomore class, was dressup to semiformal. Entertainment was provided by the John Kaye Ensemble.

Donate Stamps

By MADGE HILDEBRANDT

Fifty-five and one-half books of trading stamps were donated by Farmington High for the purpose of providing Christmas toys for needy children.

The campaign to collect trading stamps in the entire Detroit area was sponsored by the WXYZ radio station and the Kiwanis Club.

Greg Klech, FHS senior, organized the drive at the high school. He packed 120 books of green, gold, red, and yellow stamps in their respective books and delivered them to the radio station over a two-week period before Christmas.

The French Club, of which Klech is president, held a dime dance and charged an admission price of 20 stamps. The proceeds from the dance, 20 stamp books, were added to the FHS fund. The sale was held by the Student Council, and the money made was used to purchase what Klech referred to as "two grocery bags full of canned goods" for the Goodfellows Drive. Fifty stamps were obtained with the purchase and contributed to the growing fund.

The WXYZ campaign closed Dec. 18 and the Kiwanis Club distributed the toys bought by the stamps to 12,000 underprivileged children.

The FHS Student Council is planning a Workday in conjunction with the student body. Two representatives from the North Farmington High council visited the high school and talked to students about the highly successful workdays promoted by NFHS in the past two years.

Farmington is planning to hold its Workday in which the students do work in the community for a fee, in the spring. Details about the Workday will be announced later in the school year.

It's Buy-Yourself-A-Gift-Week

Anybody with any luck has a relative who sent money for Christmas. Before you fritter it away on frivolities, we'd like to suggest a way to use it which will return dividends to you and to your family and the nice person who sent the money, for years to come.

There's only one thing we know of that will do all that, and it takes pictures. Wouldn't pictures of your family be a wonderful way to say thanks for the money? And wouldn't pictures of all your family fun be lasting fun for all?

Sure, you've got a camera. But does it take sharp, clear pictures every time, and do so as easily as the amazing new models that are out now? KODAK INSTAMATIC Cameras, for those that take four flash pictures without changing. Even that wasn't enough. Kodak adopted the instant-loading idea to movie cameras. And now you get bigger, brighter, sharper movies, and more easily than ever before.

KODAK INSTAMATIC Movie Cameras. So, you got one for Christmas? Well, how about a collector for your slides or movies? They're new and better too. Well, even if you also received all the handy photo aids there are, and that's saying quite a lot, you can't say you have enough film. Nobody ever has enough film. Why not use that Christmas money to stock up on an enough film so that you'll never have to skimp, and miss a wonderful shot.
