Patriotism Is Not Being Shown

TO THE EDITOR:

A few short years ago, people were over anxious to show their respect to their country and flag. Men honored the flag passing in parades by removing their hats or saluting. Nowadays many a hat or hand buds when the colors float past. Americans used to jump to their feet, when the first bars of the national anthem were played. But people just don't want to waste the time standing still for a few minutes of silent reverence anymore. The first action of students every day was to say the Pledge of Allegiance. Now they grumble and groan when the pledge is only recited.

THE FLAG WAS out on every holiday, such as Flag Day, Labor Day and July Fourth. This July Fourth very few flags were seen in the breeze. In fact, one particular subdivision of a Detroit suburb, there were only twelve flags out at over one hundred houses.

What's the matter with the way Americans changed?

We have such days as Flag Day to honor the brave men of years past as well as to honor our flag and country. Let us pledge to show and express our loyalty to our country. This is the way Americans used to feel. Do we still feel this way? No.

Instead people sit when the anthem is played, laugh at the thought of saying the pledge and make fun of the flag. What has happened to patriotism?

Last Friday night will long be remembered by Lizi Bob. It was a very warm night. As he understood it, had invited Hans and Geneva Rogind to have dinner with them and then go on to the theatre at Northland. As Paul was busy, he told Lizi he had to meet someone at the airport, not that he was "meeting friends" from Chicago. Lizi and a hand from Chicago — Hans and Geneva picked Lizi up and drove her to the Danish Club on Grand River. There the four thirty of their closest friends waiting. There was a delicious dinner with most of the ingredients flown in from Denmark: the shrimp, fish of flounder, beer, cheeses, etc. After the wonderful dinner with music and speeches at the Club all came out to Wood Creek, including the band, for more music and convivality.
