

Jayces Auxiliary Will Open Baby Sitting Clinic Tonight

Due to the many requests from parents and students, the Farmington Junior Chamber of Commerce Auxiliary is again making available the baby sitting clinic — "Parents By The Hour" — this evening.

The first session, beginning October 20 at 7:30 p.m., will be held in the cafeteria of the O. E. Dunckel Junior High School on 12 Mile Road. These sessions will run for five consecutive Wednesdays.

"CHILD CARE" will be presented at the first session, with Mrs. Ralph Mattmuller, a registered nurse, assisted by Auxiliary Sub-Chairman, Mrs. Roger Lancetta. They will discuss the feeding, dressing and handling of children of various ages.

Mrs. Harlan Lorey will handle "Safety as a Sitter." A local police officer will deliver an informative message on precaution of children in an emergency. Also at this session "Sitter Responsibility" will be discussed.

THE THIRD SESSION will feature Mrs. Warren McKenney, registered nurse, with a first-aid program. With Auxiliary Sub-Chairman Mrs. John Richardson, they will talk on what to do if an accident should occur.

Emergency measures that every baby sitter should know regarding artificial respiration, will be demonstrated at the fourth session. This knowledge of course could be beneficial to a sitter at any time. A written exam will also be given at this session.

Auxiliary Co-Chairman, Mrs. Charles Boston, and other committee members will provide refreshments. The school teacher demonstrates how to amuse and entertain children, at the closing session.

These sessions are very well qualified and will provide everyone attending with interesting, useful information geared to prepare a student for the pleasures and responsibilities of being substitute parents.

Each student attending these five sessions and passing the examination will be awarded a certificate.

Taking Steps To Improve Safety on Hill

Some corrective action which it is hoped will help improve the traffic safety problem that exists on Farmington Hill as it winds through Twin Valley Subdivision between Ten Mile and Shawansee Road is now being taken, it was reported by the City Council Monday night.

According to Public Safety Director Maurice Folz, a survey he conducted by his department makes it clear that present warning and regulatory signs are inadequate and confusing.

It was revealed in the report that the county road commission had agreed to install a proper warning sign in the township north of Ten Mile. The city public safety department is already in the process of working with the public works department to improve the present warning signs to the south in the city proper, the report added.

As another safety measure, the entire route from Ten Mile to Shawansee will be striped with double yellow (no passing) lines.

It was made clear in the report that the improvements planned were not the answer due to the physical conditions that prevail in this area, namely sharp curves and the steepness of the hill.

Increased speed enforcement has been promised by Chief Folz as well as efforts to get the county to re-strip the spot on Farmington Road to the north in the township from 45 to 35 miles per hour.

Few Object at Sewer Hearing

The majority of the home and property owners in Sloman Acres Subdivision want and will be willing to pay on a special assessment basis for a new and adequate sanitary sewage disposal system in their subdivision to replace present septic tank facilities.

Some written objections were filed with the township prior to the second recessed public hearing on "necessity" held last Tuesday at the Township Hall but the number of objectors were believed to represent an inadequate percentage to block a go-ahead with the improvement project if all the objections are satisfied with cost estimate figures.

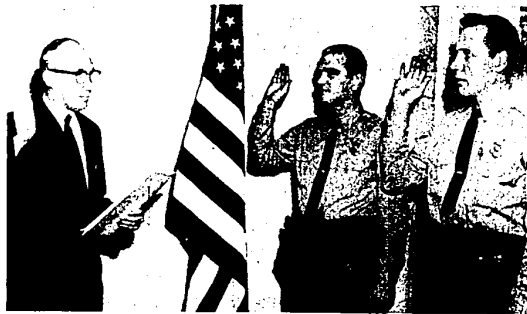

The recessed hearing held last week attracted between 30 and 40 homeowners but most of those in attendance voiced approval with the proposed improvement project.

The necessity hearing is only the first step in approval of the project. A cost estimate hearing will also have to be held at 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 27. Property owners will have an opportunity to learn approximately what the proposed improvements will cost. There is enough object to the estimated costs involved then they have a second opportunity to stop a go-ahead with the proposed improvement.

Fall Rummage Sale To Be Held At First Methodist Church

"Rummage Sale" and "Bargain Basement" might be considered synonyms as the ladies of Farmington First Methodist Church convert the church dining room into a bargain basement. The Fall Rummage Sale will be held Saturday, October 23, at the church, Grand River at Warner, Windsor.

Articles will be displayed in supermarket style on tables and racks with two "check-out" lanes at the door to make shopping quicker and easier. Women recruited from the Circles will spend Thursday and Friday, Oct. 21 and 22 sorting and arranging the merchandise.

Donations can be taken to the church on Thursday and Friday between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Clothing for both children and adults, all manner of household discards, books, toys, games — all are welcome. Smaller items of furniture and electrical appliances such as clocks, radios, record players and ironing boards included and these latter need not be in working condition.

Election

EXPERTS EXPECT that by 1975, the total population of Farmington will be somewhere between 80,000 and 100,000. (In 1950, only 70,000.) Just about the number of children in Farmington schools today. This growth must be planned for in detail. Not only must the school district have enough classrooms, teachers and equipment available for enrollment at the beginning of each school year, but also there must be room to handle the additional students who enroll throughout the school year as new homes are completed.

The school board studied the building and site needs for some six months before recommending the bond issue to be voted on November 15. They used population growth charts prepared by the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission; the Oakland County Coordinating, Zoning and Planning Commission; Farmington City and Township studies, and the annual school census.

The $6,100,000 bond issue the Board of Education recommends will meet minimal needs in the district for about five years, they say. Its adoption is essential, Board members believe, if the Farmington Public Schools are to continue to offer a high standard of education to Farmington's children.

(Next week, Proposal II — Extension of a three mill operating levy.)

Editor's note: Members of the Board of Education and school administration are welcoming opportunities to speak to clubs, organizations, and to anyone who wishes a representative to explain the issues and answer questions. Anyone who wishes this service may arrange for it by calling Supl. Harrison at GR. 4-9450.

Set Hearing On City Apt. Re-zoning

The official public hearing on re-zoning that would permit apartments to be constructed on a 6.1 acre parcel of land in the Rouge River flood plain area on the north side of Grand River Avenue west of Lakeway was set for Monday, Nov. 1, at 7:30 p.m. by the City Council Monday night. It was later determined that this was not legally possible and the date was thus changed to Nov. 15.

The original motion of Councilman Ralph J. Borden was set for the hearing for 8 p.m. on the regular Council meeting night but it was altered to call for the 7:30 starting time because of the exceptional controversy that has developed over this re-zoning request.

The initial hearing before the City Planning Commission attracted a substantial number of neighboring property owners objecting to the proposed re-zoning. A petition of objection signed by 63 property owners was also filed with the Planning Commission.

Even the planners were not unanimously agreed in recommending the re-zoning. Three of the nine commission members expressed disapproval of the re-zoning.

The original plans called for 100 units on the property have now been altered reducing the number to 91. In addition a proposed emergency room in a two-car garage south to the parcel has been eliminated and the open area for a nature trail along the Rouge River has been increased from 50 to 60 feet. A boulevard type entrance to allow both ingress and egress onto Grand River Avenue has been stipulated in the redesigned plans.

Oct. 17-23 Is Credit Union Week-2 Here

President Lynden Johnson has designated the period from October 17 to October 23, as International Credit Union Week and Thursday, October 21, as International Credit Union Day.

Governor Romney has also issued a formal proclamation recognizing the tremendous strides the credit union movement has made in recent years in giving people throughout the world a more meaningful way of life.

Residents of the City of Farmington are urged to participate in the observance of Parish Federal Credit Union (serving the members of Our Lady of Sorrows Church), and the Farmington-Glenview Employees Federal Credit Union (which serves public employees in the area).

Together, these two non-profit organizations have combined memberships of 3,000, and assets in excess of $15 million dollars, and in their 15 year histories have made more than $6,000 loans exceeding $10 million.

LADIES STEP FORWARD ALL ABOUT WIGS

Let us chat about Wigs or Hair Pieces. Well over a third of our patrons own wigs or hair pieces. Think in terms of what is your need? A wig is a costume that one can always be available for wear while the other is being cleaned and styled.

The fashion wigs and hairpieces are the easiest to sell because the fashion angle appeals to women of every age and type, and because today's extensive variety of fashion hairpieces is so widely adaptable, so attractive, and so easy to wear. Then, too, the professional hairdresser can apply coiffure styling techniques to a wig or hairpiece to transform it into a fashion accessory that is distinctly individual for that patron.
