The November P.T.A. at Beechview School had an unusual twist. One of the Senate Sub-committees held its regular business meeting in front of the P.T.A. Hearing the report on multiple-handicapped children.

dren, the interview of a case study, and the reports on day-care study gave many of the spectators a further insight into the scope of these problems faced and shared by the parent, child, community, and legislators.

That wonderful moment of finally turning into a brownie occurred in November for some of our 7 and 8 year old girls. Attending a special brownie meeting and wearing their uniforms for the first time, the "brownies" were invested in ceremonies before parents and teachers by making a brownie promise and receiving their pins.

Guided by Mrs. Roberta Plakne and Mrs. Elsie Weir of Troop 122, nine little brownies were added to the roster: Kim Davis, Susan DeYoung, Pat Gully, Nancy Kerastas, Susan Lenten, Joyce Nash, Carol Shaw, Linda Sherman, and Lori Weir.

Troop 710, according to Mrs. Luanne Thomas, had a total of five investiture ceremonies last month to embrace all their new recruits: Jaki Iles, Allison Moore, Carolyn Such, Gail Muller, Carol Harrison, and Karen Grose.

Mrs. Judy Hornack and co-leader Mrs. Jo Mitchell of Troop 1059 chose Nov. 23 for their ceremony. The new brownies, Anna Marie Wilson, Cindy Lombardi, and Michelle Angelo, were entertained by a play put on in their honor. Done in costume, the six troupeurs did a wonderful job. "How the Brownies Got Their Name."

ON NOVEMBER 3 and 4, six girls, the girl scouts, departed on an overnight camping trip to the John F. Ivory Farms. In this wonderful area with two pleasant days, the girls indulged in horse-back riding, a first for many of them. The evening's activities included a talent show of chorus girls. These 5th and 6th grade girls also went to view the Ice-Follies at another outing with their leaders, Mrs. Linda Boff and Mrs. Jeanne Queltette.

The Wallace Barringer's and the Richard Luke's collaboraed on a pre-holiday open house for friends and neighbors at the Luky residence on Eleven Mile Road on Nov. 27. The Bud Olson's of Pipers Lane liked this idea and cooperated with an open house the next afternoon.

An influx of newcomers to Kimberley changes our complexion with varying personalities blending into our own melting pot of America. Welcome to the following four families:

Burdette and Laurel Lukert thought their new home on Westmeath was to be a school opening treat, were afraid it would be a Christmas present; but, as it turned out, was ready for a "Thanksgiving" blessing. Their children, Kimberley, 10, Scott, 7, and twins, Susan and Sara, 5, have already become acquainted with the other children because Mrs. Lukert has been busying them to school since the term began.

Moving here from Dearborn Heights, Mr. Lukert commutes daily to Ford Division where he toils in the controller's office.

MOVING INTO THE former MacDonald home on Fiddler's Green made this their ninth home in nine years for Mr. and Mrs. Jim Emmert. In Lansing last year and in New England previously, Jim is in the new car merchandising for the Oldsmobile Division. Daughters Jamie, 9, Lori, 5, and Vicki, 3, adjust easily to the many moves and dad's traveling.

Living in Los Angeles for 10 years, the change to a four-season climate was a pleasant surprise to the Tom Fagan family of Pipers Lane Court. Tom, who is district manager for the Bekins Van and Storage Co., chooses to be a pilot in his leisure and belonged to a flying club while out west. His wife, Donna, and two sons, Tommy, 2, and Peter, 1, sometimes accompany him on his flying jaunts.

The Frank Klemp family moved into the former Froelich home on Kilbuck in 1951 with children Bruce, 6, and Renata, 10 months. Frank and Irene are natives of Chicago but made the change when Frank accepted the position of plant manager for Difco Laboratories which is a pharmaceutical house. Longtime for Chicago, the Klemps motored home for a Thanksgiving reunion.

Judy and Jim Burns hustled to St. Louis last week. Jim had the honor of being a best man for his father's wedding on Nov. 20 which the whole family attended.

Our suburb was shocked and saddened recently by the tragic death of Linda Jean Horle in an automobile accident. Mere words of sympathy and comfort cannot erase the heartache this family feels in her loss. We, as a community, also feel her loss and suffer silently with them.

MRS. ALTHEA M. HAIGHT
Mrs. Althea M. Haight of 18831 Susanna Avenue, Livonia, passed away on Saturday evening, November 27, 1965, in St. Mary Hospital following a long illness.
