Girl Scout News
 BY AMY CHARRON

I so often get news too late to do troops any good, and I'd really appreciate getting news with more time allowance for coming events. That is the only way others can benefit.

There are two First Aid courses coming. They are open to anyone interested, not necessarily scout leaders. The morning class starts on February 7, 11:15 to 12:30, 10 a.m. to 11:15 noon at Nardin Park Methodist Church, 11 Mile Rd. near Middlebelt. Mrs. Cleveland said just to the first meeting as there is plenty of room for all interested. The first aid book is 75 cents and can be picked up at the first meeting.

The evening course begins on January 31, for five weeks at West Bloomfield Library on Orchard Lake Rd. Cost is also 75 cents for the first aid book.

On January 18 a Flag ceremony by Patrol 1 opened a memorable Rededication Ceremony, as Junior Troop 1036 officially welcomed six new girls, Lynn Dorando, Janeen Ellis, Krista Reynolds, Annabelle Robertson, Cheryl Soall and Carol Steinke. The white candles set in birch logs and entwined with ivy were lit as all the girls rededicated themselves to the high ideals of Girl Scouting. The sister scout brought the new girls forward and as they pinned them explained the symbolism of the Girl Scout and World Association pins. As Patrol 2 (decoration committee) built a campfire (simulated) the girls sang "Whatcha' Do."

THE SETTING was really impressive. With all the lights turned off, the candlelight made shadows which made one feel like it was a real outdoor setting with a camp fire brightly burning.

The girls had their Court of Awards in this setting. Paula Charron led her troop in badge-keeping by receiving tin, and Donna Koss a n of Annabelle Robertson tied for second with seven each. As the embers of the "campfire" slowly died out the girls sang "The Golden Sun" to close the ceremony. They took special delight in presenting to last year's co-leader, Mrs. Florence Neumann, a homemade sewing basket, imprinted with each girl's name, in appreciation of her help.

Between the ceremony and the refreshments, Mr. Russell Cleveland showed films taken at the Scouts last year at the March Birthday display and of the troop's first camping experience at Arrowhead last June. The fun part of the camping was seeing Troop 804's Cadette Rita Dootz (living in Germany with her family at present) covered with catpaw and bandaged from the first aid on the injured Rita.

Leader Mrs. Russell Cleveland and the girls were pleased that so many mothers, three fathers, teachers, and even two grandmothers, one all the way from Florida, came. The hostesses were Patrol 4, and Patrol 9 had charge of refreshments and were assisted by Mrs. John Whitmore, who spent hours decorating the cupcakes that the girls had baked. Special guests were from Detroit, Mrs. Cora Mudd and her three patrol leaders, Debbie Hausman, Deborah Stultz, and Michele Adkins all of Junior Troop 1513.

THE BADGE awards and Star for year of Junior scouts are as follows: Linda Anderson, Star, Community Safety, Rambler; Heide Brown, Star, Community Safety, Rambler and Water Safety; Debra Burken, Star, Kari Lynn Case, Star, Community Safety, Rambler; Paula Charron, Star, Community Safety, Rambler, and Outdoor Cook; Gail Jackson, Star, Rambler, Community Safety, Cook, Outdoor Cook and Housekeeper; Kathy Kurth, Star, Community Safety, Rambler, Outdoor Cook and Camera; Donna Koss, Star, Community Safety, Rambler, Prints, Camera, Collections, Cook, and Outdoor Cook; Teri McCall, Star.

Patricia Moffitt was ill but earned Star, Community Safety, and Rambler; Jeri Lynn Neumann, Star, Community Safety, Rambler, Pets, and Housekeeper; Annabelle Robertson, Community Safety, Rambler, Toy-maker, Magic Carpet, My Home, Housekeeper and Collector; Cheryl Soall, none-new scout;

CAROL STEINKE, Community Safety and Rambler; Kris-
